FINISH FIGHT, NEW DR. PLAN

SICK MILLIONS
EYE CONGRESS
VOTE ON BEER

Fate of "Medicine"
Soon to Be Decided.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., May 22.—(Special.)—Whether beer is medicine is to be decided by congress shortly in a vote of a spectacular contest between the drys and the wets which will determine whether the prohibition law is to be clamped down as tightly as is desired by the Anti-Saloon league.

The drys, according to this congress, are drier than the last, believe the safe are safely grained for the passage of the new Volstead bill prohibiting the use of beer for medicinal purposes, suspending importation and manufacture of liquors for any purpose until the present surplus is exhausted, and otherwise tightening up prohibition regulations.

Palmer Prescription Now Used.
The administration plans to issue regulations for the prescription of beer, under the Palmer opinion, as well as the new commissioner of internal revenue takes office. Beer then will be available for medicinal purposes until prohibited by congress, in the event of the passage of the supplementary Volstead bill. Administration members will endeavor to have the appointment of David Blair for internal revenue commissioner confirmed by the senate this week.

The Volstead bill is scheduled to be reported by the House Judiciary committee shortly and its early passage to the House is predicted by the drys. Opponents contend that the measure is superfluous and ineffective, but the dry forces pronounced it necessary in view of the Palmer ruling that beer may be prescribed as medicine and of the limitation placed upon the prohibition commissioner in dealing with permits for manufacturers whose permits are used for beverage purposes.

"The Many Invalids"—Wheeler.
Walter B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, refused to believe that the United States suddenly has become a nation of invalids, as would seem to be indicated by the enormous increase in the use of liquor for medicinal purposes. He said the committee that 35,000,000 gallons would be withdrawn from the market warehouses this year for non-beverage purposes, compared with an average of 10,000,000 gallons a year for the same purpose prior to the advent of prohibition.

"Men in the treasury department are in a position to know," said Mr. Wheeler, "estimate that about 80 percent of the increased withdrawals are legally diverted. This means that about 15,000,000 to 18,000,000 gallons of liquor are wrongfully used."

"The present law does not give adequate power to the enforcement department to cope with this situation."

Worried by Discharge of 700.
The drys are greatly aroused over the discharge of 700 prohibition enforcement officers which, it is asserted, will result in the complete demoralization of the forces administering the eighteenth amendment. These officers are being discharged because of lack of funds for their pay, the last congress having refused to appropriate the necessary $200,000 for the remainder of the fiscal year. The treasury department, according to the drys, could not be induced to ask this congress to appropriate for the deficiency. There will be ample funds for the reemployment of enforcement agents on July 1 and the drys suspect the administration deliberately refrained from asking for a deficiency appropriation in order to get rid easily of 700 Democratic appointees whose places can be filled on July 1 with Republicans.

Drys Mourning Death of White.
It means that thousands of cases and assessments involving millions of dollars of prohibited taxes levied will be disregarded," said Mr. Wheeler. Mr. Wheeler said the death of Chief Justice White, whose "decisions sustaining prohibition laws" greatly helped the advancement of national prohibition, "had spread gloom over the drys."

"The drys," Mr. Wheeler said, "will watch with great concern the choice of his successor."

Attorney General Daugherty has said that distillers shall be held exempt from the differential tax on liquor for non-beverage purposes "if diverted by them to legal uses." In the absence of legislation on the part of the distiller to obey the law, Mr. Daugherty says, however, that the distiller is liable for the differential tax "if there is shown to be a reasonable presumption of knowledge on his part that such distillate would be diverted to other than non-beverage purposes."

Austin High Bars Silken Hose! 'A Joke'

A notice was posted on the bulletin board at Austin High school Friday that beginning today a set of rules would be enforced among the female students. The regulations follow:

1. The distance between the skirt and the floor shall not exceed four inches.
2. Silk stockings shall not be worn.
3. Rouge shall not be used.
4. The hair shall not be marcelled, but is to be worn in a braided down the back.

This notice was signed with the name of Eula W. Deaton of 334 North Mason avenue, dean of girls. Its appearance caused a great deal of comment among the students—and not a little indignation. The furor extended to the homes.

Mothers Criticize Order.
Many mothers, it is said, criticized the order. What right had the school authorities to tell their daughters how they could dress? Did a teacher know better than a mother what was proper in school girl styles?

Some mothers, on the other hand, expressed their approval. Their daughters told them the regulations had been posted not as an intimation that the students were dressing a bit too flashily, but for the sake of democratization.

There were girls who could not afford silk stockings and marcel waves and such modish ways, and were conscious of the difference in appearance between themselves and the well-to-do students. It was because of them, the mothers were told, that the order had been placed on the bulletin board.

Dean Denies Issuing Order.
But here an element of mystery enters. The principal of Austin High school, George B. Rockwood, said he had never heard of the order.

"That's foolish," he declared last night. "We have not done anything like that and do not intend to."

James H. Smith and several other teachers were equally ignorant. Finally Miss Deaton, the dean whose name had been signed to the notice, was reached.

"Some student must be playing a joke on us," she said in surprise. "Why, I wouldn't dare post such an order. I doubt if it could be enforced, even by the board of education itself."

Seniors Adopt Skirt Length Rule.
Miss Deaton admitted, however, that she had discussed the matter of feminine dress with the girls on several occasions. A few weeks ago the senior class girls, acting on her advice, decided that the fourteen inch rule would be applied in making their graduation dresses.

"All of those regulations follow suggestions which I have made in my informal talks—all of them excepting the one about wearing hair down their backs. I have often said that rouge and silk stockings were not quite proper for high school girls, but, as for making enforcement of my opinions compulsory—that is absurd."

Meanwhile several hundred girls are preparing for classes this morning with mingled feelings.

HAND-PICKING THEIR JUDICIAL CANDIDATES

SALOONIST SHOT; PASSING GIRL HIT BY STRAY BULLET

Two persons may die as a result of a mystery shooting affray at 25th street and Wabash avenue early today. They are Peter Zechus, a saloon-keeper at 2507 South Wabash avenue, and Miss Elizabeth Irving, 17 years old, a waitress at Wesley hospital and living at 2458 South Wabash avenue.

Miss Irving has a bullet wound through the right lung, supposed to have been inflicted by a stray bullet fired at Zechus, and Zechus was shot in the head.

Miss Irving had attended a dance at the home of Martin Lavin, 55th and Peoria streets. She, with Lawrence Dougherty, 5546 South Wells street, and Miss Annie Crook, 18 years old, also a waitress at the hospital and living at 2458 South Wabash avenue, was returning to her home. The trio alighted from a street car at 26th street and Wabash avenue. They saw five or six persons engaged in an altercation. Two shots were fired and a man fell. At the same time Miss Irving received a bullet in the breast.

All in the quarrelling party fled, leaving the man, who was later identified as Zechus, lying on the sidewalk. Both he and Miss Irving were taken to Wesley hospital.

Zechus was unable to make a coherent statement and police were unable to get any clue to the assailants.

TWO BALLOONS FORCED TO QUIT NATIONAL RACE

Nashville, Tenn., May 22.—Two balloons, the City of Birmingham and the Chamber of Commerce of St. Louis, which left Birmingham late yesterday with seven others in the national elimination race, were forced to land near here today. They had previously been sighted passing over the city with one other balloon.

There were 400 people in Grace Episcopal church when the Rev. F. R. Godolphin preached the funeral service yesterday. The pallbearers rode with the casket in the navy truck draped with flags and piled with flowers.

And as the body was being lowered into the grave an airplane high in the blue bombed the casket with white carnations. The marine firing squad fired a salute above the mound.

CHICAGO FLYERS HURT AS PLANE FALLS 200 FEET
Bloomington, Ill., May 22.—Robert Warfield and George Horton, two Chicago men flying their own plane, fell 200 feet here this afternoon. Both were injured and taken to Brokaw hospital. The plane was wrecked. The extent of the men's injuries has not yet been ascertained. Neither had regained consciousness at a late hour yesterday and physicians were unable to state the exact extent of their injuries. The cause of the accident has not been fully established. To spectators at the landing field it appeared that the engine died just when the men were too near the ground to handle the plane.

GERMANS DRIVE POLES BACK IN SILESIA FIGHT

Rifles and Machine Guns Taken.

BULLETIN.
BERLIN, May 23.—A dispatch from a German source at Oppeln says Polish reinforcements have crossed the frontier into Upper Silesia and that there was severe fighting Sunday in the neighborhood of Rosenberg. The insurgents were obliged to evacuate several villages. The final outcome of the affray has not been reported.

LONDON, May 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—The first real operation of war during the Polish insurrection in Upper Silesia occurred Saturday evening, when Germans attacked in the Grosteler forest, according to a dispatch to the London Times from Ratibor. The correspondent followed the Germans and says they attacked in two columns, one from Lowietzko and the other from Krappitz and Gogolin. The Poles left their position hurriedly. Near Gogolin four field guns and eight machine guns and 150 rifles were captured.

POLES STORM KATOWITZ
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921. By The Chicago Tribune.]
KATOWITZ, May 22.—The siege of Katowitz, the coal capital of Silesia, was sharpened today, when insurgents cut the water pipes and electric wires and began the systematic occupation of buildings in the outskirts. According to German reports, French troops idly watched the insurgents making preparations to capture the city, which is believed to be a matter of hours.

On account of the telegraph and telephone wires being cut it is impossible to verify this report. Dr. Urbanek, German plebiscite commissioner, who occupied the same position as Gen. Korfanty during the plebiscite, fled from Katowitz, aided by British officers.

Silesian labor unions sent tragic appeals for help to the International Red Cross at Geneva. "Murder, robbery, plundering, and assaults of a most frightful sort accompany the Polish insurrection," the appeal says. In a night battle in the Krappitz district, German volunteers attacked the Poles between Thebnow and Grossodmrowka, winning ground and capturing guns.

Mr. Sullivan has already created a number of scholarships at Andover academy, of which he is a graduate. He announced them on the anniversary of his father's death.

There are four scholarships there, one for the best student in each class, and in addition one scholarship in memory of John P. Hopkins, former mayor of Chicago, and an annual fund of $500 to be given some deserving professor or instructor.

Mr. Sullivan and his wife leave Chicago Wednesday for New York. They will sail on the Celtic Saturday for Europe, and will return about Oct. 1.

WILSON MAY DIP HIS PEN IN INK TO WRITE UP FOES
[Copyright: 1921. By United News.]
Washington, D. C., May 22.—Former President Wilson is understood to have begun preparation of the first extensive writing he has done since leaving the White House, and is contemplating, it is said, a new volume which will be a sequel to his history of American politics.

The work will constitute his first production for sale to publishers in many years. He is understood to be devoting some time to it each day.

It may be stated authoritatively that it is not Mr. Wilson's intention, for the present, to do any writing of a controversial nature.

Some two years ago Mr. Wilson was quoted as expressing an intention to pay his respects in forthcoming works to certain gentlemen on the hill whose political practices he condemned. A modern work on American politics might well prove the vent for his feelings in this regard.

Physically, the former president continues to mend slowly, but apparently surely. He is seeing more people than at any time since he left the White House.

One Holdup Man Shot After Raid on Saloon
One holdup man is believed to have been shot last night after he and three companions had robbed the saloon of Frank Wanlita, 1109 South Jefferson street. They took $50 from the register and $40 from a customer. Wanlita then snatched a gun and opened fire. One man fell at the door, but his companions carried him off in an automobile.

Sullivan Cash Will Educate Poor Youths

Boetius Sullivan's portion of the fortune left by his father, Roger C. Sullivan, will go to maintain practical charities and to advance education, it was announced yesterday. Last night Mr. Sullivan outlined his plan to perpetuate his father's memory through the establishment of scholarships.

Next year, and every year thereafter, the best student in each of Chicago's high schools, public and parochial, will be allowed to compete for a Roger C. Sullivan scholarship.

The winner may pick any college he desires, provided it is not so-called or athletic; and his tuition, board, and room rent will be paid for his four years in the school.

Eventually there will always be four Roger C. Sullivan scholarship students in America—a freshman, a sophomore, a senior, and a junior.

First Scholarships from Own Money.
The money for these first scholarships will not come out of the money left by Roger Sullivan to his son. They will come out of the money made by Boetius in his law practice.

"I will not touch a cent of my father's money," Boetius said. "After I have paid for these four scholarships I will spend the money he left me in similar educational systems and in practical charities."

Mr. Sullivan has already created a number of scholarships at Andover academy, of which he is a graduate. He announced them on the anniversary of his father's death.

U. S. TERMS FOR RECOGNIZING OF MEXICO READY

Guarantee of Yank Rights Paramount.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—A definite statement outlining the conditions upon which the United States would extend recognition to the Obregon government of Mexico has been prepared for submission to President Obregon. This statement, in the form of a memorandum, it was said tonight, will be delivered to President Obregon by George T. Sumnerlin, counselor of the American embassy at Mexico City, who is expected to leave for Mexico this week. He was summoned here a month ago by the secretary of state to give first hand information concerning the situation there.

The conditions for recognition, it is understood, are practically identical with the recommendations made by Secretary Fall in his report at the last session of congress as chairman of a subcommittee of the senate foreign relations committee which investigated the Mexican question.

Dotted Line for Obregon.
The important feature of the communication is said to be insistence that Obregon must sign some document giving assurances that Americans and their interests will be properly safeguarded in Mexico before the United States will consider the resumption of formal relations with that country.

If such assurances are given, it is believed that Henry P. Fletcher, undersecretary of state, who was ambassador to Mexico for a time under the Wilson administration, until he resigned because of disapproval of that administration's policy toward Mexico, will be designated to assist in drafting a treaty.

The communication which Mr. Sumnerlin will deliver to Obregon contains nothing which can justify its being characterized as an ultimatum, but it is understood, the Mexican executive will be left in no doubt as to the determination of the American administration to see that American interests are not indefinitely discriminated against.

Fall Inspired Conditions.
It is said to have been prepared not only with the knowledge of Secretary Fall but in collaboration with him. Among the conditions set forth are:

Elimination of those provisions of article 27 of the Mexican constitution relating to the nationalization of the subsoil rights in so far as they affect the tenure of land to which title was obtained prior to the adoption of the constitution in May of 1917.

Elimination of the provisions which deprive Americans of the right of diplo-matic appeal in cases where property is acquired.

Modification of the provisions which prevent Americans acquiring and owning property within a certain zone along the Mexican coasts and international boundaries.

Fair Trial for Americans.
Assurance that article 33 of the constitution, providing for the expulsion of "pernicious foreigners," will not be applied to Americans without the filing of charges and the opportunity of a fair trial.

Modification of the provisions governing religious worship in such manner that American clergy shall have the right to exercise the functions usual in their denominations.

It is also suggested that the two governments agree to the creation of a mixed court for the adjudication of claims.

The Mexican question is said never to have been discussed at length, at any meeting of President Harding's cabinet, but it is understood that careful consideration has been given it by the President and Secretaries Hughes, Fall, and Hoover.

Some optimism is expressed by officials regarding Obregon's reception of the decision, but in other quarters the opinion prevails that he may submit counter proposals, and if they are rejected by the American government refuse definitely to sign the agreement.

May Cause Row at Home.
It is pointed out that although Obregon desires recognition by the United States he probably will not seek it at the cost of being swept from the presidency by according to demands which may give opportunity for his political opponents at home to charge that he had yielded to the Americans.

Failure to sign the agreement, on the other hand, would bring to Obregon, it is believed, almost as serious a danger, since there is another party, besides his radical foes in congress, comprising many of the old anti-Carranza revolutionary leaders, who are displeased with the present trend of the administration.

100,000,000 OF FRENCH BONDS OFFERED IN U.S.

Quoted by Morgan, Pay
About 8 Per Cent.

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—Official announcement was made today that J. P. Morgan & Co. will issue to the United States $100,000,000 of French government twenty year external loan 7 1/2 per cent bonds. They will be offered at 95.

The statement made on behalf of the French government was as follows: "M. Jean de Sieres, head of the French republic's financial agency in New York city, and M. Jean de Rincourt, inspector of the French government, have announced that the French government has arranged for the issue of $100,000,000 of bonds of the French government to be underwritten by a syndicate being formed by Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co. The proceeds of this bond issue will be used to retire obligations of the French government maturing in the United States during the current year, and for such purchases of foodstuffs and raw materials as the French government may be required to make in the United States. The details of the loan will be announced by J. P. Morgan & Co."

The statement said: "Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co. announce that the French government has authorized them to issue in the United States $100,000,000 French government twenty year external loan 7 1/2 per cent bonds. The bonds are not subject to redemption before maturity. The French government, however, consents to pay as a sinking fund the sum of $1,000,000 in cash per annum in monthly installments of $750,000 each month, beginning July 1, 1921. This sinking fund is to be used in the purchase of bonds in the market at not exceeding par and accrued interest. Any unexpended portion of any such monthly installment remaining at the sinking fund at the end of any month is to be returned to the French government.

The new bonds are to be offered at a yielding slightly over 8 per cent. A country-wide syndicate of dealers is being formed and the bonds will be publicly offered at an early date.

Due to Pay 1921 Obligations.
Three French debts, it is said, will be retired by the loan—the issue of $100,000,000 City of Paris bonds, about $3,500,000 treasury certificates now in this market, and a $10,000,000 obligation due to the United States government in August.

It was said that the details were arranged by Thomas W. Lamont of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. and Maurice Chassagnon, representing the French government. Albert Breton, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Otto Mann are said to have attended the conference.

BALY'S CURVE IS OFF AND HARVARD GIVES HIM ERROR

Cambridge, Mass., May 22.—Baly's curve is inaccurate. To the layman it may suggest a ball game, but to chemists, physicists, and oxygen manufacturers the news is likely to prove most startling. It is vouched for by the Harvard engineering school. Baly—not a baseball pitcher, but an English physicist—twenty years ago measured the temperatures at which mixtures of oxygen and nitrogen begin to liquefy and the extent to which the liquid formed is richer in oxygen than the original gaseous mixture. This measurement, known as Baly's curve, has been accepted as fundamental law. Prof. Harvey N. Davis of the engineering school announced today that recent experiments had resulted in the discovery that the curve is wrong.

A. E. Dunbar, a member of the research group in cryogenic engineering at the school, made the discovery while doing some work on helium for the government. Dunbar set out to prove for another pair of gases the work done by Baly. Having designed a new type of apparatus, he tested it with liquid air. He found that Baly's curve was inaccurate.

The research necessary to extend Baly's work and plot the curve correctly has not yet been undertaken.

WHO CARES IF IT IS HOTTEST MAY DAY?

Tent City in the woods at Olympia Fields Country club, where 200 Chicago families will spend the summer at nominal expense. It was pleasant in the "city's" shaded lanes yesterday and the children disported themselves in races and other games with no thought of the hot Chicago they had left behind.

KEEP UP LEAGUE DESPITE AMERICA, LORD CECIL SAYS

LONDON, May 22.—Lord Robert Cecil in a letter to the London Times argues that the fact that America declines to have anything to do with the league of nations, directly or indirectly, ought not to change the British attitude toward the league. He contends that the league is not the outcome of impractical idealism, but is a sober, serious attempt to safeguard mankind from a repetition of the horrors of the late war, than which no more rigidly practical object is conceivable.

Outlining the vast work the league already has accomplished or is achieving in numerous fields of activity, including the international court of justice, he says: "This has been accomplished not only without the assistance of the United States but in the absence also of Germany and Austria and in a time of extreme difficulty. Doubtless the league is far from perfect, and more might have been done, but its history thus far is heartening. We lament the absence of Russia and still more of the United States. The sooner we get their help, the more effectively we could do our work."

In the meantime let us thank God and take courage."

LODGE ASSERTS HARDING WANTS NAVAL HOLIDAY

Boston, Mass., May 22.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in a letter read today at a mass meeting in which reduction of armaments by international agreement was endorsed, said that President Harding "has this matter very much at heart, and I am sure you may trust in his doing all that he can to forward it."

"A reduction of armaments by one great maritime power and a continued increase in armaments by another would in my judgment lead to war rather than to peace, but of the value of international reduction of armaments there can be no question," Senator Lodge said. "It is something all must believe in and favor on all occasions."

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, who also addressed the meeting, said he was strongly in favor of reduction. He asserted that he did not believe the United States navy alone should be reduced, but that we should have a fleet "as big as the biggest."

The lake, Chicago's "old swimmin' hole," was a popular spot. From early in the day until nightfall the beaches were haunted by thousands. The picture shows how Young Chicago enjoyed the day at Oak street beach.

Arrests in Petrograd Mark Political Storm

STOCKHOLM, May 21.—Reports from Terijoki, on the Russo-Finnish border, say that the workers in Petrograd and Moscow are restive owing to the shortage of food, with the situation becoming worse daily. Strikes are said to be prevalent in many industries, evidently for political motives, the workers demanding the right of private possession, the privilege of unrestricted trading, free speech, the election of new councils, and secret balloting. No open disturbances are told of, but there have been many arrests in Petrograd.

Heat in Jail Busts 5,000 Bottles of Home Made Rum

New York, May 22.—Intermittent showers tonight brought some relief to New York and the surrounding territory after sweltering through the hottest day of the season thus far. The temperature reached its peak for the day, 85 degrees, at 5:30 p. m. Thousands went to seashore resorts. It is estimated that 300,000 persons swarmed over Coney island. The heat gave the police of the Morristown police station a thrill when 5,000 bottles of home made wine, which they had seized and stored on the top floor, began to explode.

CHICAGO HAUNTS LAKE AND WOODS TO ESCAPE HEAT

Hottest May Day for Ten Years—Mercury 91.2.

Yes, it was the hottest May day in ten years and four days.

During the afternoon the old thermometer, in the office of the weather bureau got so full of sunshine it perked right up to 91.2. The record heat for a May afternoon is 91.8, achieved on May 18, 1911.

The merry sunshine-powdered the rim of the lake with boys and girls and men and women in bathing suits, put life into all the boulevards, and dotted the greenwards with picnic parties.

The breezes off the lake tempered the heat somewhat, and Chicago lived up to its summer resort reputation.

Two more days like yesterday and swimming will be safe, according to an announcement made by Capt. Charles Carland, commander of the coast guard station at Evanston. The temperature of the water at Evanston yesterday was 55 degrees, Capt. Carland reported.

Child Drops Dead.
Stella Casazaka, 6 years old, playing in her back yard, running and jumping in the sun, dropped dead. It is believed she was stricken with heart disease. She lived at 2251 Burley avenue. A well dressed woman, about 35 years old, who is believed by the police to have suffered a temporary lapse of memory due to the heat, was taken off a Milwaukee avenue street car at Washington and Dearborn streets. At the Psychopathic hospital she was unable to tell her name or where she lived. She was found by Mrs. Mabel Bernard, 4367 West Madison street, a religious worker, who called the attention of the police to her.

Tent City Springs Up.
A tent city has sprung up on the grounds of the Olympia Fields Country club at Matteson, Ill., where more than 200 well-to-do Chicagoans have taken their families for the summer. The exodus from flats and houses took off added significance this year because of the high rents. The rent for the five months is only $50. Golfing and horseback riding are the chief sports enjoyed by the members of the club. Among those who have already established domiciles on the club grounds are C. N. Anderson, Col. A. L. Bolte, George W. Montgomery, A. F. Brockman, A. H. Nixon, S. J. Roche, J. M. Daley, George F. Williams, J. M. McCurkin, J. Norton Buchanan, W. J. Rankin, Charles Nalinger, George Weber, Dr. W. S. Heermans, W. E. Dee, Donald Richberg, Dr. Clare M. Frame, W. B. Hall, John J. Duffin, and George G. Borden.

Affected by Heat Every Year; Leaps from Window

Every summer during the first days of hot weather Patrick Gallagher, 34 years old, of 2250 Ellis avenue, is affected by the heat, his sister, Miss Jessie Lem, told police yesterday. He had just leaped from a first story window. His skull is believed to have been fractured.

NEW PRESIDENT PUT IN BY LISBON REBELS, REPORT

Madrid Told Cabinet Has Been Jailed.

MADRID, May 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Temps today prints under reserve a report from travelers reaching Vigo to the effect that a revolution has broken out in Lisbon, Portugal.

According to the travelers the members of the cabinet have been imprisoned and Machado dos Santos has been proclaimed president.

The Portuguese legation in Madrid announced today that it had no knowledge of a revolution in Lisbon and discredited the reports.

HEARD REPORTS OF TROUBLE.
A dispatch from Lisbon Saturday night said the Portuguese cabinet, headed by Bernardino Machado, had resigned, but that no disturbances had taken place.

It was added that political conferences had been held throughout Saturday in an endeavor to bring about satisfactory arrangement of the ministerial situation.

Machado dos Santos is a former president and founder of the republic.

TRY TO FORM A CABINET.
LISBON, May 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—Today's newspapers print a communication from the military junta which planned Saturday's demonstration against the government.

It says that no pressure will be exercised to impose a new cabinet, the choice of which is to be left to the president, who has telegraphed various leaders of political parties to form a new ministry.

The manifestation yesterday was wholly of a republican nature and due to dissatisfaction by the military over a recent act of the government in the exonerated of transferred officers.

SEEK TO REDUCE CONSUMPTION OF BOOZE IN BERLIN

BERLIN, May 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—An interpellation addressed to the government by the bourgeois parties in the reichstag declares there is too much drinking of alcoholic stimulants in Berlin and other cities, and charges that the growth of the number of bars is furthering intemperance to an alarming extent. The government is asked in the interpellation when it proposes to present the long awaited draft of a law for combating drunkenness.

The Freiheit, the organ of the Independent Socialists, reminds the government of the provision of the constitution which permits it to confiscate privately owned jewelry and gems if the public welfare demands such action.

Austria and Hungary to Meet on Land Claims

VIENNA, May 22.—Negotiations between Austria and Hungary for settling the German West Hungary question will begin Monday. It is understood Hungary will offer as a compromise complete withdrawal from the territory if she is given a narrow strip along the eastern border, which contains a number of sugar refineries. The contention is that the beet refined there are wholly produced in Hungary. Certain customs concessions on Austrian products along the frontier also will be offered.

ARCHITECT JOLTS FAHERTY'S CLAIM ON EXPERTS' FEES

'Can't Conceive' How Cost Should Be So High.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.
The council finance committee is now prepared to disprove the claim of Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, that his building experts, Austin J. Lynch and Frank H. Mesco, are working for less than half the price which a rule of the American Institute of Architects requires its members to charge.

Chairman Richert has written several authorities asking several questions. In reply Richard E. Schmidt, a director of the American Institute of Architects, who says he is "well conversant with its official documents," says on the payments to Lynch and Mesco: "I cannot conceive how costs should approach the amount being paid by the city."

Rule Applies to New Work.
Relative to the Faherty representation, Mr. Schmidt says:
"I note by the press that President Faherty is said to have represented to your committee in a written statement that 'a rule of the American Institute of Architects would require $6,111,635 on $71,901,592 worth of buildings involved,' or a fee of upward of 8 1/2 per cent for valuation and court services."

After saying that he has a copy of the rule quoted by Faherty, Schmidt continues:
"The schedule refers almost wholly to new work. It requires much study, exercise of the imagination, and talent to prepare sketches, working drawings, engineering features, and so forth—infinitely more work than is involved in the routine work of taking measurements of existing buildings and platting them on paper."

"The first kind of work can only be done by men of talent, training, and experience; the second by junior draftsmen, whose wages are only about one-third of those of the first mentioned."

Contention of Faherty.
In his statement to the public and to the city council Faherty said: "Here with I hand you a statement of the valuation of the buildings to be taken in the different improvements, which at the rate of 8 1/2 per cent, as provided in the schedule of the Illinois Society of Architects and the American Institute of Architects, would make the cost to a private individual $6,111,635."

Later his statement said:
"The fee to be paid by the city for the total completion of the work based on the contract authorized by the city council of 2 per cent for each of the two building experts, or an aggregate of 4 per cent for the entire work, will aggregate $2,786,052, or a saving to the city of Chicago of $3,325,572."

Neither can The Tribune company "conceive how costs should approach the amount being paid by the city," and so it started suit in the Superior court to recover $1,004,586 already paid

LEAPS TO DEATH

An unidentified man about 40 years old leaped to his death in the Chicago river yesterday afternoon from the north side of the Madison street bridge. Just before he jumped he removed his coat and hat and knelt for a second in an attitude of prayer. Two policemen—Patrick Durkin and Patrick Giddons—were standing at the other end of the bridge at the time. They rushed towards the man, but he jumped before they could restrain him. The body was not recovered.

The bill filed asserts that the services of Lynch and Mesco were only worth $16 a day, and that their total compensation for all work done should not have been more than $50,000.

VOTE ON JUNE 6 EVEN IF YOU'RE NOT REGISTERED

Affidavits Will Qualify All to Cast Ballots.

There is no registration day before the judicial election of Monday, June 6, and The Tribune has received numerous inquiries bearing on the rights of persons who must register in order to qualify themselves to vote on that date. The subject was submitted to Colin C. H. Fyffe, attorney for the election board, who responded with the following statement.

BY COLIN C. H. FYFFE.
[Attorney for Election Board.]
Any voter who has the required residential qualifications under the constitution may vote at the election of June 6. These requirements are that the voter shall have resided thirty days in the precinct, ninety days in Cook county, and one year in the state of Illinois.

For the purposes of this election lack of registration does not disqualify the voter. The coming election for the choice of twenty judges for the Circuit court of Cook county is what is known as a judicial election. The city election act, article III, section 27, provides that at any judicial election at which no other than judicial offices are to be elected, there shall be no previous registration. This is true of the present election.

Where the voter is on the registration books of his precinct, he votes, of course, just as in the case of the ordinary election. If he is not registered, but has lived the required time in the precinct, county and state, he will be required to make an affidavit before one of the judges of election in his precinct, supplemented by the affidavit of one householder who is a registered voter in the precinct, that he knows the applicant, who resides at such and such a number and street in the precinct, and that the applicant's statements as to residence and as to time of residence in the precinct are correct, and that the applicant is a legal voter in the precinct. These affidavits will be kept on hand at each polling place and furnished to any voter who asks for them.

Unregistered voters must be careful to have a householder acquainted with the facts who can make the required affidavit.

It will, of course, be understood that what I have said applies equally to men and women. There is no difference whatever between the right of a man and a woman in regard to voting under the nineteenth amendment to the United States constitution.

OBREGON WILL NOT DISCUSS RADICAL SOLONS

Mexico City, May 22.—President Obregon, replying to the memorial on radicals in the government employ sent him early last week by Liberal Constitutional deputies, today refused to enter into the discussion. The president told the deputies, however, that all the data at his command had been turned over to the federal prosecuting attorney, who would prefer charges against all offending radicals.

"I must not enter into a discussion," President Obregon said, "because of the danger of establishing the precedent of exerting political influence over the bloc in congress pertaining to this or that party."

UTILITIES STIRS PROTEST OF ENGINEERS

Report Calls for Private Practice

Charging that the new bill before the state legislature "harass and constitute an interference with the property of nearly 10,000 engineers," the Western Society of Engineers today sent a protest against Gov. Len Small and his legislature.

In submitting a report on the proposed legislation, the society's committee wrote: "We believe that the bill No. 741 would be a piece of legislation in itself a confusion of jurisdiction, and no regulation at all. It would give the commission no power, and at the same time double the total salary."

Increased Pay.
The report further states that the bill has five members, and that the commission would have to draw the same salary as the governor, or as to political party four years.

Contrary to the provision of the bill would exempt employees from civil suits, and, according to the bill, would permit the governor to change in the future the commission under the commission.

UTILITIES BILL STIRS PROTEST OF ENGINEERS

Report Calls It Attack on Private Property.

Charging that the public utilities bill before the state legislature would "constitute an attack on private property of nearly 600,000 citizens," the Western Society of Engineers has issued a protest against the measure to Gov. Len Small and members of the legislature.

In submitting a report on the proposed legislation, Andrew Allen, chairman of the society's public affairs committee, wrote:

"We believe that the proposed house bill No. 741 would be a very harmful piece of legislation. It would result in endless confusion, including conflicting jurisdictions and, in some cases, no regulation at all. It would abolish all safeguards over civil service and give the commissioners much less to do, and at the same time more than double the total salaries of the commissioners."

Increased Pay Roll Cited.

The report further calls attention to the fact that the present commission has five members, each paid $7,000 a year; the commission, under the proposed bill, would have seven members during the same salary and eight assistant commissioners to be paid $5,000 a year each. All would be appointed by the governor, without restriction as to political party, for a period of four years.

Contrary to the present law, the new bill would exempt the commission's employees from civil service requirements, and, according to the engineers, "permit the governor to make a complete change in the personnel employed under the commission at any time, for any reason."

Leakage for Poorer Service.

It is charged the commission would be permitted to maintain a degraded service at lower price through the provision requiring that the "rate shall be adjusted to the service actually rendered."

The bill would require the commission to grant a certificate of convenience—an operating license—to a competing company if the service of the operating company is found to be inadequate. And it would be allowed to revoke certificates previously granted. This, the engineers fear, would give wide play to ulterior motives.

Chicago Will Observe Baby Week June 5 to 12

YOUNG CURIOSITY

Virginia deer are inquisitive animals. This member of the species has this particular trait so developed that the keepers in Lincoln park zoo have christened him Young Curiosity.

If the perspiring pupil in the last seat will kindly turn on the electric fan, the Monday morning class in zoology will come to order. Thank you, sir.

Consider yourselves deer pupils, class—spell it deer, please. We present Young Curiosity, a 4 year old specimen of the Virginia deer in Lincoln park zoo. Deer are curious critters. They hop at the least sound, turn questioning faces at the slightest stir, and poke their long noses into all sorts of odd places. Young Curiosity was so named because his bump of curiosity is abnormally large, even for a deer.

There are perhaps a dozen branches of the deer family. The so-called Virginia breed runs to long, thin heads and large ears of the rabbit order. Torrid weather finds the Virginia deer of a reddish color. This coloring changes to a grayish hue in winter. In size the Virginia deer runs from 3 to 4 feet in length.

The word deer, derived from the Teutonic deer, or dior, means wild animal. The deer is found in all parts of the world except South Africa and Australia. Varying climates have their varying species. Everywhere the flesh, venison, is valued as food, and the hide also has a commercial value.

SMUTS FOR NEW JAP ALLIANCE IF U. S. IS SATISFIED

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, May 21.—Jan Christian Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa, in referring to the coming imperial conference in a speech before the house of the assembly today, declared himself in favor of a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, if America could be satisfied "that no harm to her interests could follow from its renewal." He declared that the cardinal principle of South Africa should be to secure as far as possible true understanding, and cooperation between the British empire and the United States.

"When I look at the question as a whole and the interests for which we stand," he said, "it seems to me to be vital that every effort should be made to keep in touch and in sympathetic contact with the great American republic."

POTHIER DENIES "CONFESSION" IN CRONKHITE CASE

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—Robert Pothier has repudiated his "confession" in the Cronkhite case. The former army captain, in murder charges arising from the death of Maj. Alexander P. Cronkhite at Camp Lewis, Wash., Oct. 25, 1918. He charges, in the story he told today that the agents of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice used methods which approached those of the "third degree" in wringing the "confession" from him.

The repudiation came after he had been brought from Providence to New York, without a court order of removal, under the name of "Joseph Brown." After all efforts to make him stand by his confession had failed, he was sent back to Providence and released in $10,000 bail.

On April 17 it was announced that Attorney General Daugherty had ordered a complete investigation of the case, yet nothing has been done.

LABOR TO LAUNCH PLAN TO UNIONIZE NATION'S CRAFTS

Intensive Fight Against Open Shop Planned.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—The American Federation of Labor is about to launch an intensified organization campaign, President Samuel Gompers announced tonight in a statement which said that "the message of trade unionism will be carried to every corner of the land to the limit of our power."

"Its encouragement and protection will be offered to the workers everywhere," he declared. "Immediately following the Denver convention next month it is my purpose to visit a number of cities to encourage the unionized to join our movement."

"Open Shop Drive Failure."

Coupled with the announcement was an assertion by Mr. Gompers that "confession that the 'open shop' campaign has proved a failure was made public May 16 at the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers held in New York."

The association's committee on industrial advancement, he said, "protested against the defensive position into which the members had been forced by labor, and urged that an offensive campaign be inaugurated and that the 'open shop' movement be stimulated by plans for industrial representation."

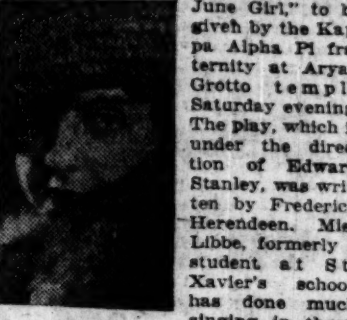

"Having failed by coercive tactics to force autocracy in industry upon the workers," he added, "the National Association of Manufacturers now proposes to silence them by promising a few of their representatives seats on boards of directors of the corporations. This would be empty honor indeed."

What Labor Demands.

"The hopes and aspirations of labor cannot be satisfied with the patronizing act of patting the workers on the back. Sincerity of purpose of employers, their whole hearted interest in their employees, can be shown best in the contents of pay envelopes. When that is lacking there can be no

A fall from a bicycle resulted in the death of Augustine Trusina, 26 years old, at the Burnside hospital yesterday. He was injured last Wednesday.

Three children—Anna Laikola, 9; her sister, Agnes, 11, 5349 South Campbell avenue, and Charles Shukas, 6, 416 South Kildare avenue—were injured at Marquette road and South Western avenue when Paul Waitis, 4258 West Monroe street, failed to stop at the crossing. His car crashed into another in which the children were riding. He will be arraigned in the Englewood court today.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT ASSAILS 'SOGTHING SIRUP' EDUCATION

Dr. JOHN C. ACHESON.

"We are bound to produce a generation lacking teeth and vertebra if we continue to hand out sugar-coated knowledge, administered with the aid of soothing sirup," declared Dr. John C. Acheson, president of Pennsylvania college for women, speaking before the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall last evening. "How may we expect to produce character when we send young folks to college in seven passenger limousines labeled 'hands off'?"

Woman "Reporter-Sleuth"

Miss Eva Craft of 1329 North Western avenue posed as a newspaper reporter in Zion City Saturday to solve "some local mysteries." But after she had registered at the Zion Home she became unconscious and, after being revived, suffered a lapse of memory. She was taken to the psychopathic hospital yesterday. It was found she had been a patient there three times.

WIDOW BEGINS TO FIGHT $300,000 GIFT TO "STENO"

Morris, Ill., May 22.—[Special.]—The $300,000 bequest to Della M. Carpenter, his 40 year old secretary, made by J. R. Collins, president of the Farmers and Merchants' bank, who died

May 15 in the Post-Graduate hospital in Chicago, is not going to be handed to the woman who was his assistant for twenty-five years without a bitter fight.

Mrs. Annie Collins, the widow, her son, Frank, and the brother of the dead man, Oscar Collins, today indicated their intention of contesting the will, which was probated in Grundy county Saturday.

Mrs. Collins lived apart from her husband for nearly ten years. She was given $2,000 a year for life under the will, and some real estate and personal property. Frank Collins was to receive $10,000 in cash, and Oscar was given land holdings in Grundy county.

$25,000 GRAFT STORY WILL BE REVEALED TODAY

Metal Products Men Are Called Victims.

The story of two union officials who have indicted an association of dealers in metal products out of more than $25,000 since 1919 is expected to be revealed before the Dalley joint legislative committee today. Witnesses having first-hand knowledge of this graft were subpoenaed yesterday.

The first payment, the committee has discovered, was made in May, 1919, was a sum in excess of $5,000. A year ago this month a strike of workers was called. Settlement of wages was effected, but before the two union leaders would consent to order the men back the association was forced to pay $25,000.

Three Ring Inquiry Today. According to information given to the committee, the business agents submitted a list of seventy-five members of the association, with a sum deposited each name, which, they stated, was each man's "quota" of payment for the settlement of the strike.

Chairman Dalley plans to have the inquiry today assume three ringed proportions. One subcommittee will hear evidence in the $25,000 metal products deal, another will open the inquiry into the alleged graft collections of the union fitter unions, and a third will conduct an open session in connection with the payment of $10,000 for settling the strike on the Chicago and Alton's freight terminal adjacent to the new Union station project.

Will Keep Up Investigation. Announcement was made by Senator Dalley that the bill providing for a permanent commission with powers to continue its work until the opening of the next session of the legislature in January, 1923, will be presented to the general assembly tomorrow morning. It provides that the commission be made up of its present personnel.

WIFE BEATEN, NEAR DEATH. Mrs. Kate Alexander, 223 South Canal street, is in the county hospital with a fractured skull, a lacerated arm, and body bruises inflicted by her husband, Harry Alexander, a teamster. Alexander is under arrest.

THUGS KIDNAP MAN, TAKE HIS $248, AND THROW HIM IN CELLAR

Kidnaped, beaten, robbed, and thrown into a damp cellar, Walter Mieszkowski of 2600 West 18th street spent more than twelve harrowing hours yesterday.

According to his story to the Maxwell street police, his experience followed the drinking of a glass of beer in a saloon at 21st and Throop streets.

"I had just one glass of beer," he said. "Then I left the place. I don't know whether I showed my [Mieszkowski Photo] money or not when I paid for the drink. I had $248."

"I was walking down the street when suddenly five men surrounded me. I was carried into an alley. I was beaten when I tried to struggle. They took everything I had."

"I awoke in a damp cellar. A window was open. I jumped up and tried to catch the window sill. I fell. All night I tried to get out that window. I must have done it at last, because here I am."

MARINE STRIKERS REJECT FEDERAL PLAN FOR PEACE

New York, May 22.—Proposals of federal mediators looking to a settlement of the nation-wide marine strike, in effect since May 1, were unanimously rejected at a meeting here today of locals 33 and 80 of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial association.

The meeting had heard a report of a committee which conferred with Secretary of Labor Davis at Washington. The proposals were reported to involve acceptance of a reduction of wages, with concessions as to overtime work. So far as is known, the proposals were not submitted to the operators, who previously declared they would not sign any further agreements with seagoing unions.

WIFE TRIES TO DIE AFTER QUARREL. Mrs. Josephine Gordon, 31, of 2333 West Chicago avenue, turned on the gas in her bedroom yesterday after a quarrel with her husband. She is at the county hospital in a serious condition.

STATE WILL ASK SPEEDY JUSTICE FOR 'BOMB TRUST'

Indictments will be asked today against Albert Peterson and Thomas J. Corcoran, business agents of the Engineers' union, and the men accused of throwing bombs on their instructions during the strike against the Laundry Owners' association.

Peterson, Corcoran, and Samuel Gibson, radical union member and I. W. W., were released on bonds last night. Attorney James C. O'Brien secured their release on property schedules aggregating $90,000, or $30,000 cash.

Four Charges Against Them. Four charges were placed against them, one of conspiracy, the others accusing them of transporting dynamite for unlawful purposes. They may be sentenced to a maximum of fifteen years on each of the four charges.

The complainants are Joseph J. Torrence, 2043 Van Buren street; J. A. Barkley, 2123 Lake street, and Charles Schiller, 315 Forquer street, all laundry owners.

Hugh Bush, 2238 Larrabee street, and Charles Bordgan, 3255 Congress street, originally held as suspects, were released Saturday night after the technical charge of disorderly conduct had been placed against them. After the confession of James Sweeney admitting the slugging and bombing outrages, Bordgan was rearrested.

State to Ask Quick Trials.

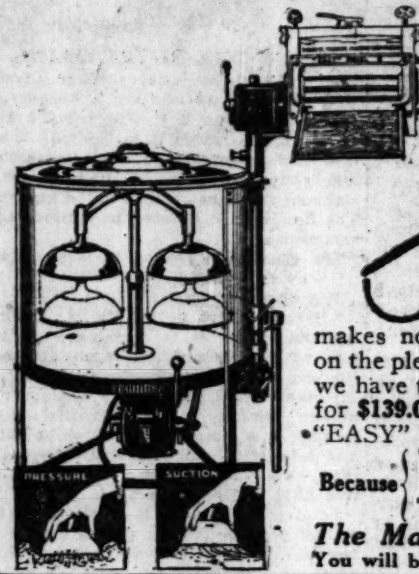

First Assistant State's Attorney Edward S. Day will appear before the grand jury this morning and request immediate indictments against the accused men, and ask that bonds of not less than $100,000 be set for each. Quick trials are part of his program.

Cornelius (Con) Shea, named as the "commissary" of bombing supplies, is expected to surrender today. He denies any connection with the bombers.

GET THE VOTE OUT AND GET IT COUNTED.

The Chicago Bar association campaign committee is agreed that more eloquence will not win the coming judicial election. As Maj. Tolman puts it: "We cannot win by demonstrating that the courts are the foundation of civilization and that without honest judges civilization will retrograde. That does not win elections. We cannot do anything unless we have the machinery by which to reach and inform the voters and bring them to the polls."

That is the most important thing for the opponents of the city hall to keep in mind. There must be an organization in every precinct to get to the individual voter and to get him—and her—to the polls on June 6. Enthusiasm at mass meetings is good. The issue of the campaign must be driven home to men and women who usually pay little attention to politics. But it is not enough. There must be organization to go after the individual voter and on election day to see that he—and she—does not forget to vote.

But there is another important thing to remember. We must get out the vote, and we must get it counted straight. This includes guarding against fraudulent Tammany voting, as well as failure to count votes for the coalition ticket. "We must guard against the voting of ringers," says John J. Sonstebj. "By that I mean the Thompson organization is prepared, about 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon, to vote strangers in the names of those who are registered but are absent from the precinct. They can put over five to twenty like that in a precinct if there is no one there to stop them."

Cheating on the count if the election were close might be decisive. The election machinery is largely in the hands of Tammany. The tactics of the city hall organization are resourceful and unscrupulous. There must be organization to see that all the votes for coalition candidates are counted.

To this end Ald. Maypole's resolution directing that police returns be reported to the judiciary committee of the council is most advisable. In the past the City News bureau received police returns and supplied the newspapers. But Mayor Thompson gave instructions that returns be made public only through the city hall. This not only delays the publication of election news but gives opportunity for vote juggling.

The council voted unanimously for the ordinance directing the police returns to be given directly to the judiciary committee. But the mayor may veto it any time up to June 3. If the council stands as it did Friday the resolution can and will be passed over the veto. The Thompson rule is so far there is hope that even aldermen affiliated with the city hall will hesitate to support the veto.

A LEGITIMATE TAG DAY.

Have some change, or some bills, as you may afford, ready in your pocket today when you leave your home for business or pleasure. At the corner, at the L station, or somewhere along your route you will meet a girl or woman who will ask you for it—and ask by right.

This is one of the two official tag days of the year, authorized by the city council for collection of funds from the public to help support charities in desperate need of funds. The solicitors on the street today are representing thirty-five organizations, which are caring for more than 3,000 helpless and dependent adult persons. It is the fifth annual tag day of the Chicago Federation for Aged and Adult Charities.

The sum of $75,000 is needed to maintain the institutions. It is the opportunity of every individual who has failed to put charity in his budget.

IF THIS BE TREASON!

Mr. Hearst's morning newspaper, warned by the summer sun, takes issue with the thought that being is a masculine sport in which women properly should have no interest or privilege. For years opposed to professional boxing as the school and show place of brutality and degradation, it now holds that when we do have such contests we should welcome our wives and mothers and sisters to witness the orgy.

Woman is no longer a possession, an ornament, or a goddess. It asserts with a fine fervor. She is a citizen. So why should she not go to boxing matches if she wants to? If she is to be a human being and a comrade, why not try to get used to the idea? Why not, indeed?

It is true that women have won equality of opportunity in business, in politics, in social activities. That is as it should be. But it is also true that they still wear feathers in their hats and powder on their noses. The writer of these lines is in favor of that, as he is unquestionably in favor of their silk stockings, although hesitant to so express himself concerning silk stockings for men. We would not be greatly elevated by the sight of even so ardent a defender of womankind with a wreath of roses around his hat and a lip stick to touch up his cupid's bow. We would even recall a trifle at the picture of him seated before a narrow ivory table with a skillful young man filed and tinted and polished his nails.

Yet such things are right for women. They are right because there is still a difference, and always will be, between men and women. No legal granting of equality can change that difference. And we are glad that a male still puts a flower in her hair to please a passing lady; that she raises her skirts above the dust of the street, and incidentally gives freedom to her stolen ankles. We are glad when she keeps her hands white and manicured. We are even glad when she refuses a proffered cigarette.

Man smokes, and by "swearing off" from time to time admits that it may be bad for his health, as he knows it is bad for his breath. Yet he persists, because he is a man. Woman has the same privilege; that is granted. But must she exercise all her privileges? Man also has the privilege of wearing a jade necklace in lieu of collar and tie, but would women think the more of him if he did so?

They would not, and we are glad they would not. It makes us hope and believe that they will keep themselves feminine, sweet and beautiful, and occasionally allow their male relatives to sit alone beside a prize ring, where they can keep themselves masculine, or perhaps even hard boiled.

TO REDUCE THE TAX BURDEN.

A thousand replies to a questionnaire sent broadcast by the American Bankers' association lists refunding of short term government bonds and funding of floating indebtedness as primary requirements of cheaper current government financing. This is the consensus of business men and bankers in all sections of the country. As such it should carry weight.

More rigid economy in government expenditures is essential to reduction of the tax burden and improvement in business confidence, but no economy can reduce the fixed charge of hundreds of millions of dollars required for interest and sinking fund on our debts. Either current income, which means taxes, must be kept up to meet that huge annual charge, or the charge itself must be spread over a period sufficiently long to make annual payments much less.

Such an arrangement would not only immediately reduce federal taxes, but would put some of the burden over to a day when the country, having recovered from the economic disturbance of war, would be in better condition to meet the demands upon it. That would be at once sound economic policy and justice to the present generation which has given of its blood as well as of its treasure to win the war and maintain the next generation in peace.

In addition to relieving the present financial strain, such a refunding of government bonds would afford opportunity for protecting the persons who "bought bonds until it hurt," by bringing these securities to par. One suggestion to this desirable end is to have the government declare itself willing at some definite future date to accept the long term bonds at par in payment of income taxes, tariffs, licenses and other debts to the government.

Another suggestion, carefully worked out by M. W. Thompson, governor of the war-credits board, is to have an issue of bonds with an adjustable interest rate that shall be determined semi-annually in advance to correspond with the market rate for money invested without hazard. Such an arrangement, it is said, would automatically keep the bonds within a point of par, as if they should go higher the interest rate would drop and if they should go lower the rate would advance. By the same token the income from such bonds would always correspond to the purchasing power of money, and no hardship could be worked upon the holder. It would merely remove all speculative possibilities.

Whether or not these plans are good, some plan could be evolved, and in any event the refunding for a long period would relieve the taxpayers of the country of a heavy burden.

NO BLACK ROBED JUDGES, SAYS BILL.

Bill Haywood, sending from Moscow a message of glad tidings to his brother Communists in America, says there are "no black robed judges holding the destinies of people in their grip."

Judge Harry M. Fisher has been to Russia also, and as representative of American relief he had some opportunity of seeing things for himself. In the journal of the American Bar Association he tells us about the court system of the soviet régime. Bill Haywood is right. There are no "black robed judges."

What takes their place, says Judge Fisher, is "commissions" or tribunals, and what they dispense is "nothing short of a tyrannical exercise of absolute power guided by the whims of each tribunal." The extraordinary commissions have slaughtered thousands, not only without the form of trial but without even informing the prisoners what the charges were against them.

When Judge Fisher asked a member of the all-Russian or not given a chance to answer his victims, to explain or defend, he was told that Russia is at war, a class war, and that every citizen of the bourgeoisie was to be regarded as a member of the bourgeoisie. Of course, this simple plan does not limit its operation to the bourgeoisie. Any one who differed with the bolshevik authorities or came under their disfavor classifies as a "counter-revolutionist" and can be promptly disposed of without troublesome formalities.

Comrade Bill having jumped the ball put up for him by certain brethren and reached Russia seems to be in a cheerful state of mind and he may remain so unless he disagrees with Comrade Lenin or Comrade Trotsky, after which the charms of the soviet utopia will suddenly disappear. He will not be bothered with "black robed judges."

HATWOOD AS A REVOLUTIONIST.

(The Weekly Review.)

Mr. William D. Hatwood, in his new office of "trusted adviser of the general staff of the world revolution," will have to do a little better as a counselor than he has heretofore done if he is to become an ornament to the place. The amount of revolution he has brought about in the United States is not conspicuous. He succeeded in getting himself and a number of his fellow revolutionists in prison, and he further succeeded in jumping his bail and escaping to another country. But anybody can do as much. That he can furnish any advice which will be of value to the general staff in its work of bringing on a world-wide revolution is, in view of his previous essays in that direction, exceedingly doubtful. As an exponent of rant and riot William is a huge success. As a promoter of revolution he is a distinct failure. He could, in his American field of operations, work much more, and it was for an instance of this in a critical time that organized society felt impelled to lock him up. But in the face of any threat of overthrow at the hands of William, capitalism, or any other established inn, may assuredly rest in peace.

And oh, we miss you in this hour

IN NATURE'S infinite books of secrecy one is forever encountering new phenomena. It is an iconoclastic age. In Kansas, not so many years ago, credulous parents taught their children that each inhabitant of the barnyard possessed a gizzard, a heart, and a liver. Few of the modern species of poultry in all Kansas know, possess a liver; virtually none a heart. And yesterday I was purchased a fancy, as the saying is, dressed one at Cordell's Argyle and Winthrop market that had neither liver, heart, nor gizzard. All of which proves that Nature really loves a vacuum and that possibly the roosters no longer lay eggs in Kansas.

LAURA BLACKBURN. DO YOU suppose anything's happened at Washington? A week has passed and a dispatch informing us the vice president of the United States is Cal Coolidge.

ROSE CURTIS. Sir: Apropos my appeal for a name for my adorable niece.

The christening came off without a hitch, and The Line's youngest member stands out fragrant and sweet and pink in all the glory of two names which erstwhile prolonged by preference and use to notable contributors.

I appreciated the name Alvin Pea, suggested by Ted, from a fund of pleasant college day memories, but couldn't quite see it to work in it. Also I recognized the peculiar word of another contributor's choice—Laura Blackburn; and was charmed and deeply impressed by Laura's own handsome offer to remember the baby in her will. But—the whole truth is my fancy and sense of obligation to you and gallant Ursus was caught and held from the first.

Will you tell the waiting world that The Line's own baby has been duly christened Rose Curtis? Thomas Curtis Clark is a thoroughly supplied necessary balance of strength and dignity through the loan (?) of his middle name—Curtis; and The Line reader will be glad to know that the new baby Rose and a charm to prevent untimely fading.

Both shall ever possess my deepest gratitude; and to you I mean to bequeath my five foot shaft of home brewed rhapsodies on the beauties of Lake Geneva.

Several times I, too, have been immured in gloomy, noisy cities, where peace and cleanliness and quietude faded almost from memory.

Until Ursus told me they are let out in the early morning, they keep up an incessant noise like an old rusty pump handle. The roosters and hens' noise was heavenly compared to the guinea fowls.

In Watseka, Ill., and in numerous other little towns guinea fowls are not allowed in the towns, owing to their noisiness.

Old boy, I acknowledge your greatness; for many years I have by various methods of introspection been trying to understand my modest self and failed.

Of course, I have aspired to that young romanticist's and old fool's game of "understanding women." They (the women) are much easier to understand than I used to think. The difficulty is that as soon as I get their reactions and other details worked out, they start a new system.

In your understanding, I could ask you multitudinous things that have puzzled me. I am afraid the cumulative knowledge might kill me, so just tell me one thing this time:

WHEN THE BUYER GAINS.

CERTAIN meat market advertisers by distributing a doggerel circular all over that part of the city in which it is located. The last half is devoted to direct advertising, giving the price of different articles and the usual claims as to quality. The first half is devoted to indirect advertising.

The circular is headed in large caps: "Why Does a Fly Fly?"

The answer follows: "Because there is less danger in flying than in walking and she gets to her destination much quicker. Do you know that the fly is the most detestable and dangerous insect to human beings? A fly's favorite place is in a place where there is filth and lots of it. It will crawl on dead rats, cats, dogs, or any other attractive filth, especially garbage."

"Did you ever see a person spitting on the sidewalk? In a few seconds the flies are having a feast on it, and do you know there are thousands and hundreds of thousands of people suffering with that terrible disease called consumption? These people are apt to spit more frequently than a healthy person; the flies will carry some of that diseased expectoration on their feet and deposit it on whatever place they will select. It may be on your next meal, such as steak, pork chops, lamb, veal, or pot roast, boiled ham, and many other eatables too numerous to mention."

One asks why all these adjectives and this grimy realism in an advertisement of a meat market? The answer starts in the next paragraph of the ad. It reads:

"This store is so well protected against flies that it is almost impossible for a fly to get near any one of our meats and eat them. Nobody wants to wash a piece of meat, poultry, fish, or pork chop, or veal cutlet and thereby spoil the flavor of it."

"But how do you know that no flies have crawled over it before you bought it?"

The answer follows: "Buy your meats from us. We have a flyproof market. This dodger is backed up by a request for an inspection. Especially do they ask for a comparison of the meat markets in the same part of town. When meat markets, grocery stores, and dairies begin to compete in this particular, when they realize that they are fly free and invite trade on that basis, a drop in the typhoid rate, diarrhea rate, and baby sickness rate is bound to follow. An advertisement which calls up matter as easily observed as an abundance of flies and which causes ethical revolt when flies are seen on food is very poor business policy unless the claims are made good. If made good so that the casual customer can see it as well as a good one."

Probably this market is building its case largely on screening and screening is valuable, but flies will come in when it is not so.

REMEDY IS SIMPLE. E. S. writes: "What causes worms in a grown person? I refer to the flat white worms about half an inch long which dry up at once upon exposure to the air. Are they serious? Can you give me a remedy?"

Except for the drying up it once this description fits tapeworm. Tapeworms are not serious. If you have tapeworms have your physician give you medicine.

OPERATION ONLY CURE. Mrs. C. S. writes: "Will you please tell me what might cause a cataract on the eye? The person affected is a man of 55. Can it be cured by medicine or is operation necessary?"

Among the causes of cataract are exposure to heat, exposure to certain kinds of dust and fumes, heredity, and age. The exact diagnosis. The only curative treatment is operation.

PAINTING AND CLEANING ORDERED. Chicago, May 15.—(Friend of the People.)—We should like to report a local condition in our building which needs the attention of the health department. All the public halls in this building are in a terrible condition.

An inspection from this department made it appear that the building is in a state of decay and has served notice on the owner and agent to properly repair the leaking skylight over the public hall; clean the floors of public hall and stairways on all three floors; paint or calender these surfaces; clean floors and stairs of public halls on all three floors.

TRAFFIC INJURES ROAD. Chicago, May 15.—(Friend of the People.)—Race track near Cicero avenue is unpaved and the heavy trucks and other traffic passing over it daily make deep ruts in it. Even today, when the rain is as dry as a bone, the ruts are so many and so deep that it looks like a furrowed farm. Motorcycles are ridden on the sidewalk, as a result, and have caused several accidents.

This is an old macadam paved street and is in a state of decay. However, it should be paved with a more substantial pavement to withstand the heavy traffic it gets.

says:

I have followed the growth of The Red Book Magazine with interest. I read fiction omnivorously. My only test is whether it is interesting. The Red Book Magazine meets this test.

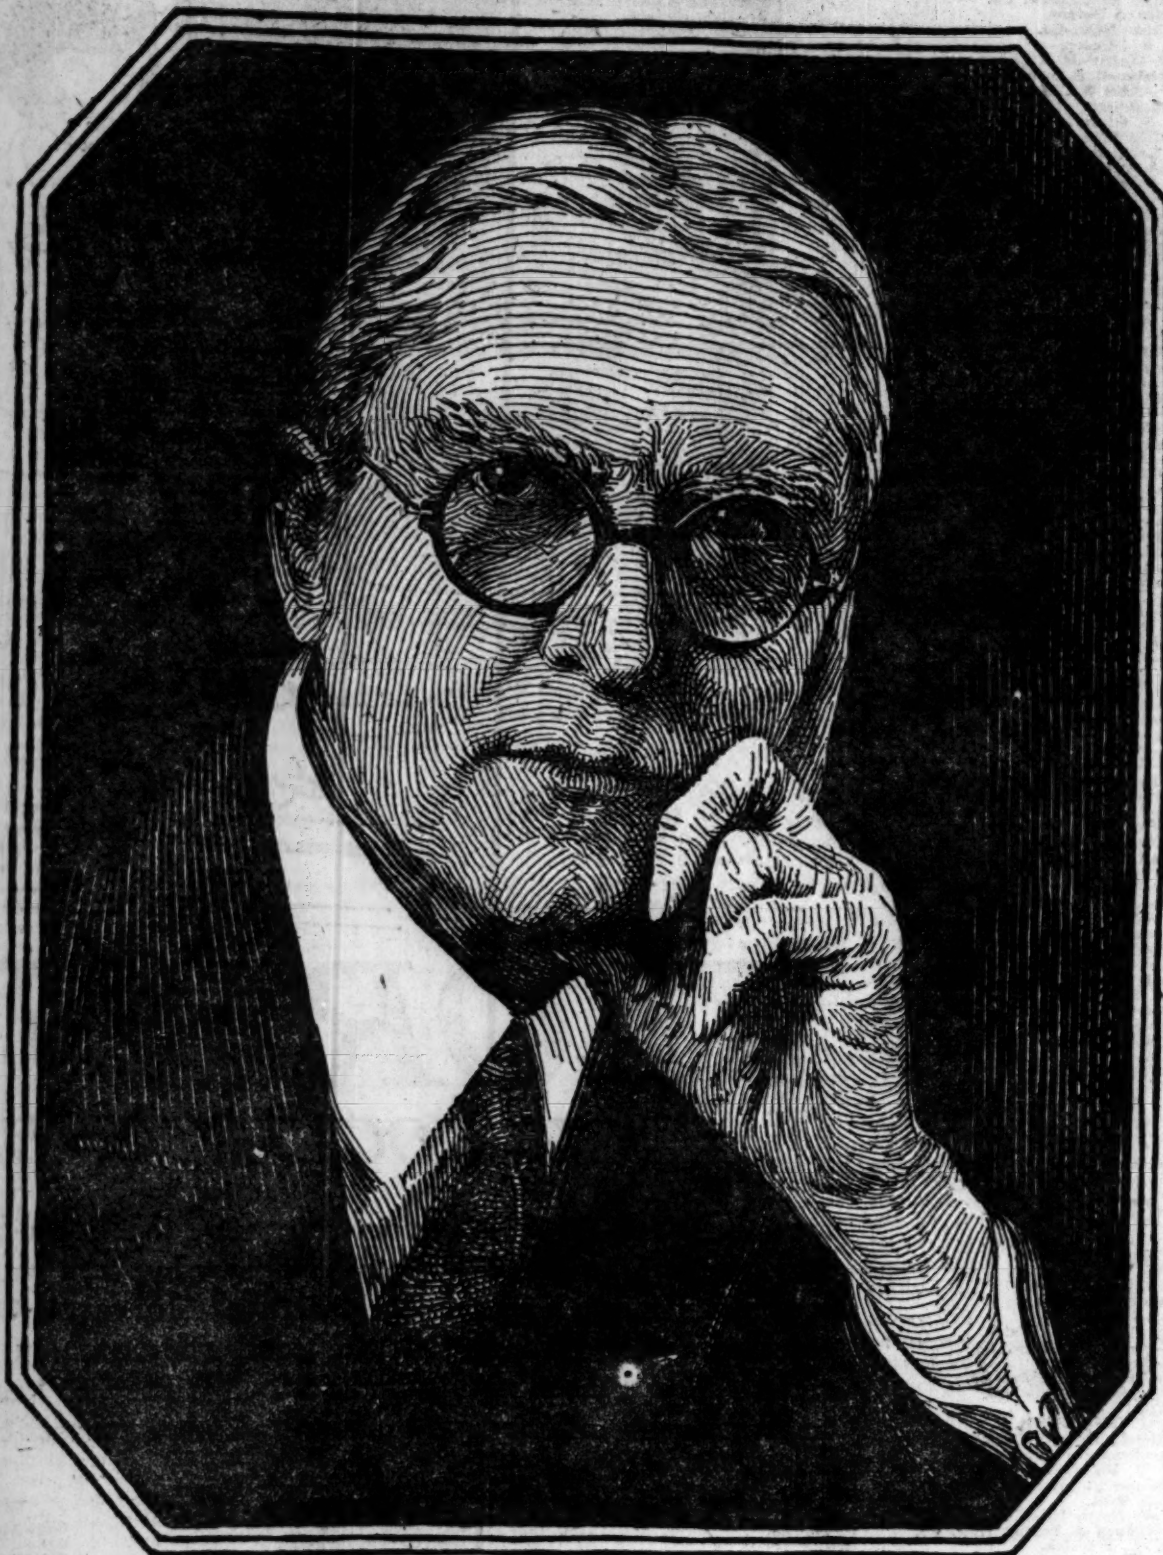

Fiction is to literature what the sky is to the earth. Almost any idea can best be expressed in a story.

The Red Book Magazine helps us all.

Frank Crane

The praise of Dr. Frank Crane is praise indeed, for there is no more distinguished or widely read ethical guide and counselor in the world than he. Each day millions read his inspiring words.

The latest—the June—issue of The Red Book Magazine contains:

BOOTH TARKINGTON

whose story of "Laurence and Roger" is the most delightful narrative of childhood that you have ever read. It is, moreover, the first of a series of "kid" stories that its famous author has done for the Magazine.

EMERSON HOUGH

whose story, "The Astonishing Suzanne," is one of the most original pieces of work its author has ever done or the Magazine has ever published. Suzanne will perplex you just as she perplexed Cardon.

RUPERT HUGHES

whose extraordinary serial novel, "Beauty," reaches its peak of interest. At last the mystery of Clelia Blakeney's strange death is disclosed—disclosed by—but to tell would destroy the surprise awaiting you.

Fair to Middling, by NALBRO BARTLEY. A great serial novel of a clash of temperament between two women and two men—who chance to be their husbands—by the famous author of "A Woman's Woman," which everyone remembers.

Conflict, by CLARENCE BUDINGTON KELLAND. A serial novel of the conflict between youth as personified by a girl of this immediate day and her hard, hypocritical uncle and guardian—all against the background of the great north woods.

Leaves of Friendship, by GERALD BEAUMONT. A short story of the prize-ring, yet at the same time a story possessing a depth of human interest rarely attained, and by America's new master of sporting fiction, whose best work appears solely in the Magazine.

The Immortal, by ALFRED NOYES. You have never read a story like it. From the first paragraph you are thrilled, and the thrill never leaves you. Only rarely is a story published that you will not be able to forget. This is that kind of a story.

The Invincible Truth, by E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM. Another adventure of Mr. Cray, the genial trouble-seeking American abroad, who here finds himself concerned with motion pictures and incidentally solves a mystery and saves a suspect's life.

Love, by COURTNEY RYLEY COOPER. An animal story of a new sort, in which a tiger, escaped from the menagerie, goes back to type on the bluffs overlooking a western river. It is a story that will prove of the deepest appeal to every man and woman who reads it.

Amateurs and Others, by SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS. A baseball story that every fan will cheer for, yet you don't have to be a fan to appreciate it to the limit.

A Mother of the Middle Kingdom, by JACK BOYLE. Another of this famous author's stories of the China that is in America, in which he tells of a mother's amazing sacrifice and what came of it.

The Profiteer's Wife, by W. L. GEORGE. Another "case" from the books of the famous psychologist who really is a soul detective and here, at the husband's desire, makes over his thrifty wife.

Built Upon a Rock, by HAROLD TITUS. Of such as the husband in this tensely dramatic story are Americans made—and heroes, when the world needs heroes, which is every day in the year.

FIREBUGS BURN COAL PLANT IN VIRGINIA STRIKE

Soak Shoes in Oil to Foil Bloodhounds.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Williamson, W. Va., May 22.—(Special.)—The head house of the Stone Mountain Coal corporation at Matewan was burned by incendiaries early this morning.

The deed is thought to be an echo of the battle at Matewan a year ago May 19, 1920, in which ten were killed. The battle last year grew out of evictions from "company houses" of the corporation. The mine has been running with nonunion men, who were sent off the property during the outbreak ten days ago.

Last week the superintendent of the mine, F. J. Smith, was beaten over the head with a rifle by "Sid" Hatfield, chief of police at Matewan, and is just out of the hospital. Smith had refused an order from Hatfield that he take the nonunion miners out of town. Matewan is accounted the toughest spot in the Tug River valley.

Turpentine Foils Bloodhounds. The destruction of the Stone Mountain equipment today came shortly after the state police, who had patrolled the region all day long, were sent elsewhere. A detachment of the state constabulary was sent to the trouble ground at once from here. M. C. Kunderberger, assistant state fire marshal, took charge of a crew that put the fire out after hours of work.

As usual the bloodhounds were put on the trail, and as usual they picked up no scent. Trouble makers down here have learned to soak their shoes in turpentine.

"There is no doubt the fire was of incendiary origin," said Mr. Kunderberger. "The place was worked by nonunion miners, but they quit and it was abandoned."

Old Feuds Rekindled. One feature of this industrial warfare along the Mingo border is the manner in which it is involved with old family feuds. The old Hatfield-McCoy quarrel, which fought itself out for years in territory not far from here, is over, but in the hillsides many a dormant grudge of long standing is still cropping up.

Some of the sniping from the Kentucky mountainsides is of a personal nature, more than attack on the miners, many citizens declare.

Organization of the "vigilante" auxiliary police continued today and more citizens joined up to help put an end to the lawlessness.

BUSH GRADUATES TO PRESENT PLAY WITH 100 PUPILS IN CAST

One hundred graduates of the dramatic class at Bush conservatory will celebrate commencement this evening in the Bush Temple theater.

The play has been adapted from the manuscript of "Animated Botany" being written by Estelle Harriett Robbins, dancing and dramatic director. In the play, as in the book, flowers and plants are given characters. Through the play's action the characteristics and useful qualities of various plant types are brought out in story book fashion. The fantasy will include appropriate flower costumes for the children and an interesting dancing program.

LAGGARD SOLONS PLAN TO WHIP UP AT SPRINGFIELD

Clogged Calendar of Big Bills Ready.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., May 22.—(Special.)—The legislature will hop into the home stretch this week in a desperate attempt to clean up its calendar, so that it may pass the appropriation bills and adjourn on June 15, the latest moment the assembly can work so that bills passed may become laws on July 1.

Both houses face greater tests than have confronted a legislature in more than a dozen biennial sessions. Hardly any of the important matters that formed part of the administration's program in January have reached the stage of possible enactment, and even the appropriation bills are a long way from completion.

The fate of the mayor's local transportation district bill will become known this week. The public utilities bill that carries a home rule grant to cities will be called for passage in the house Tuesday or Wednesday.

The Anti-Saloon league's prohibition bill, passed Thursday by the senate, is scheduled for a fast performance in the house.

The election bill, changing the date of the state and legislative primaries from September to April, will be up in both houses during the week, and the state police bill may be called if the Lantz bills are disposed of in the senate.

JAPS ANNOUNCE PLAN TO LEAVE HOLDINGS IN ASIA

Say They Will Quit Siberia and Shantung.

TOKYO, May 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Japan is to evacuate Siberia and restore Shantung to China "at the earliest possible moment," according to a statement by an official of the foreign office following adjournment today of the colonial conference which has been in session here for the last week. This, he declared, meant that there would be "no change in Japan's fundamental policy" in the far east.

The government has decided not to publish any of the conclusions reached by the conference for the present, but it was declared that the results had been so gratifying that similar gatherings may be held annually to secure coordination between the various branches of the government at home and in other parts of the far east. The conference included high Japanese military and civil authorities from Siberia, Manchuria, Korea, and Kwantung, and was presided over by Premier Hara.

What They Want.
Japanese officials emphasized that Japan sought nothing in exchange for Shantung, but must have assurances that Japanese residents and interests in Shantung would be fully protected. The impression prevails in Tokyo that Japan has actually inaugurated negotiations with the Chinese government, though for the moment there is a question as to the recognition of this government.

Meanwhile the leading Japanese newspapers insist that Japan will withdraw her troops from the Shantung railroad to Tsing-Tau without awaiting Chinese acceptance of Japan's standing offer to open restoration negotiations. It is declared this withdrawal will be carried out with an aim to hastening arrangements for the actual re-occupation of the province to China. The newspapers also declare the government is arranging to evacuate the whole of Siberia with the exception of the points in Saghalien province which were occupied because of the Nikolievsk massacre.

Comment of Press.
The Kokumin Shimbun, the military organ, attacks the government, which it says is trying to create the false impression that it will establish a constructive policy in Siberia by withdrawing its troops. It says the military leaders are fearful that such an evacuation will lead to anarchistic conditions in Siberia. According to the Nichi Nichi Shimbun, Japan's conditions of withdrawal from Shantung include assurance of the maintenance of peace and order in the three far eastern provinces, with safeguards against establishment of communist, and protection of Japan's economic interests. The Nichi Nichi adds that, to "protect Korea" from a million or more Koreans in Manchuria and Siberia, who are in a state of revolt, Japan is seeking a special agreement with China in regard to the creation of consular and police rights, and also a stricter control over the movement of Koreans.

COUNT PEORIA, BLOOMINGTON, PEKIN, FOR TREES

Leading Citizens Favor Memorial Idea.

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

Peoria, Ill., May 22.—(Special.)—Three more Illinois cities have joined heart and soul in the movement to plant memorial trees to all the soldiers of the world war along the nation's highways. They are Peoria, Bloomington, and Pekin.

Peoria's Journal-Transcript, through its publisher, Henry M. Pindell, is leading the march in Peoria, and the mayor of the city, Victor Michel, yesterday declared: "It's the greatest thing we can do, and I am going to do everything I can to help the city to get its trees planted by the great day of celebration, Memorial day, 1922. I think it's as beautiful a monument as any soldier could ask."

Mal S. L. Nelson, commander of the Peoria post No. 2 of the American Legion, said: "The Legion in Peoria will want to do its share. At a meeting last night it was suggested that we appoint a committee at once. We will be glad to accept any funds from individuals who want us to plant trees for them."

A Tree-Loving Region.
Mr. Pindell, publisher of the Journal-Transcript, said: "Trees? You don't erect a finer monument to the soldiers. This part of Illinois is particularly appreciative of trees and they wouldn't suggest any more wonderful monument than the living one of oaks and elms. I will not hesitate to do all of my share, or more, than that, to accomplish these great roads of remembrance."

Mrs. Harriett Munroe Brown, president of the Peoria Woman's club, is now to take the matter up with the club board.

Enthusiastic in Bloomington.
Clarkson Faulk, managing editor of the Bloomington Bulletin, said: "Bloomington is the Evergreen city, and the people of this community will like the idea. The paper will help in every possible way. We have just issued a $400,000 bond issue to build a memorial county building. We have already paid $20,000 for the block where it is to stand. Perhaps we will find it desirable to plant trees around that building."

Dr. Harry E. Howell, commander of the Bloomington post of the American Legion, said the legion would do everything possible toward the completion of the Illinois memory roads.

Dr. F. O. Jackson, the city forester of Bloomington, is in favor of elms, as are many of the citizens.

R. H. Crisfield, managing editor of the Bloomington Pantagraph, declared trees to be a particularly fitting memorial for the soldiers. "Trees that look at God all day and lift their leafy arms to pray," he said, "as the soldier, Joyce Kilmer, wrote before he was killed in battle. I want to help the idea in every way I can."

Pekin Will Plant.
Pekin, the county seat of Tazewell county, was no less enthusiastic, and is going to plant trees by the great day of celebration. Louis Watson, publisher of the Pekin Times, is assisting in the campaign, aided by his editor, H. Schaefer.

Peoria and Pekin are on the Chicago-St. Louis highway.

NEAREST WOMEN IN MURDER.
Aurora, Ill., May 22.—(Special.)—Mrs. St. Charles woman indicted as accessories in the murder of Chief of Police George Kehm of West Chicago, are again in jail at Wheaton, unable to furnish bonds of $10,000 each.

Survey Reveals Urgent Need of Forest Renewal

America's original forest area of 820,000,000 acres has been reduced by three-fifths by "romance, necessity, and greed," according to a report of a survey that will be submitted to the forest products division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, which will convene today for a four day meeting. United federal and state action to save the dwindling forests will be urged.

The survey, made by Hugh P. Baker of New York City, executive secretary of the American Pulp and Paper association, indicates four-fifths of the remaining timber supply of the United States is in private hands. The timber now standing is estimated at more than 745,000,000 cubic feet.

"Though depletion is increasingly rapid because of new uses for wood, exhaustion of the supply can be prevented by determined efforts at renewal," said Mr. Baker last night.

HOPE FOR END OF BUILDING TIEUP BEFORE JUNE 1

Unions Criticize the Stand Taken by Carpenters.

With building construction practically at a standstill as a result of the lockout of the building trades men and laborers the third week of the strike in the industry started to show signs of improvement. Both sides are hopeful for an early agreement.

When the contractors ordered the lockout on May 1, after the unions had refused to accept a reduced wage scale, union officials claimed the men affected had found work with contractors not aligned with the building associations at the regular scale of $1.25 for skilled and $1 an hour for unskilled labor. Now even after officials admit the smaller contractors work is nearing completion and that the craftsmen face unemployment, officials of the building associations say that by the end of the week not more than two per cent of the workmen will be employed.

Strive to Reach Agreement.

Meanwhile every effort is being made by the Building Trades' council to end the wage dispute before June 1. All unions affiliated with the council except the carpenters have given their last arbitration boards full power to settle the dispute.

"The carpenters' unions will never agree to let five men negotiate an agreement for them," Dan Galvin, secretary of the district council, said at the last meeting of the unions. "Before an agreement is made it will have to be submitted to all locals for a vote. It will be two or three weeks before any definite agreement can be made."

Other labor leaders say the carpenters' stand is based mostly on the fact that it is near time for the annual election of officers and that incumbents hope to postpone taking any wage reduction until after the election.

Committee Works on Scale.

Thomas S. Kearney, president of the Building Trades' council, and Edward M. Craig, secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association, will meet again today in their endeavor to reach some wage agreement to present to the unions and contractors.

Settlement of the bricklayers' scale is anticipated the first of this week. Peter J. Haughey, president of the bricklayers' union, will confer with William Schlake of the Builders' association on wage and working agreement today.

HIDES HERSELF IN FOUNDATION OF HOME 6 DAYS

Perla, Ill., May 22.—The mystery enveloping the strange disappearance of Mrs. Lottie Schultz, 55 years old, who lived with her husband, half-conscious and semi-delirious from being without food or water for six days, was found under her home here this afternoon. Her only words when she was discovered and pulled through the aperture in the foundation were "Why didn't you let me die?"

She became unconscious and was unable to explain the reason for her action. Tonight she is in the hospital and is not expected to recover. A wide search has been carried on for the woman the last week, and this morning a corpse of a man dragged from a ditch in hope of finding her body.

Grief and melancholia caused by the loss of her two sons during the influenza epidemic two years ago is believed by members of her family to have deranged her mind.

SIXTEEN AUTOS TAKEN; WEEK-END HOLDUPS ACTIVE

Sixteen autos were stolen Saturday night and Sunday morning, including that of Dr. C. A. Jacobson, 2931 West Adams street. Four bandits rode away in it after taking $50 from the physician.

Three men took $35 from W. Fleming, 2949 North St. Louis avenue.

Miss Mary Nash in a Spanish Play

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

MISS MARY NASH as a Spanish beauty; Mr. José Rubens as her husband (an aged smuggler); Mr. Rod La Roque as a muscular young guardaman; and what is known as the Primitive Passions, played a thrilling foursome last night at the Playhouse, result undecided.

At the end Miss Nash was bleeding profusely to death in the arms of her (stage) lover, while Mr. Rubens, the uxorious, presumably regretful of his deed, caressed her white hands by way of atonement. A rapid and tearful conflagration was much impressed by the proceedings, as, no doubt, it should have been.

MISS MARY NASH.

The exhibition, whose headline is "Thy Name is Woman," is a husky oldtimer, a sort of mail-order drama, something you might find in a catalogue. Its performance is in a catalogue. Its performance is in a catalogue. Its performance is in a catalogue.

With its type—the action suited to the word—broad, vivid, expected. That is not to say that the acting is loud; but it is audacious, and it leaves no cause for discussion as to the meaning of its heavy nuances. For the regular Nash, after discovering muscle in the brawny arm of the handsome soldier (the old smuggler's biceps are puny), rings all the bells to let you know that she has been here before. With the discovery of muscle, the lady begins to suspect that life as the bride of an enfeebled outlaw has its irksome elements. The development of the suspicion into a full-blown belief is Miss Nash's interesting errand.

These are tuneful bells of Miss Nash's, never out of time nor harsh. The star does gracefully all the Spanish things from the Carmen walk to a jaunty bolero, or why ever it is they do in the Pyrenees as the equivalent of the modern dances. It is her purpose in this drama to indicate that she loves her leathery old husband because he is weak and lame and needs her maternal ministrations. This she does until the tall and hearty constable appears and causes her, inadvertently, to change her mind. He sets the flames dancing in her flesh, and as for his pulses aching when he kisses her, she says "Make me scream!" she cries during one of her incendiary embraces; and it is in episodes of that sort that Miss Nash is most effective. No matter how wanton the character she is portraying, she invests it also with a comforting purity.

Mr. Rubens is benignly cast as the crafty base of the Spanish castles. He is known as "The Fox," and it is his scheme to have his wife make love to the ambitious young frontier guardaman, while he sends his contraband silks and laces unimpeded across the Pyrenees. He has an idea that women fool their lovers, not their husbands, and when he learns otherwise, he resorts to assassination. Mr. Rubens is one of these quietly lascivious players, rich but not extravagant of voice and gesture. He treats his syllables like pets, fondling them as they fall musically from his lips and, at times, almost compromising them, he likes them so well. As with the leveled finger of accusation he reiterates the words, "Mistah Soldah!" they become almost a symphony. A finished actor, but containing in this play few surprises.

Nice eyes, nice hair, and an imposing figure are present in the person of Mr. La Roque. The stage management is of the naive kind wherein, as a candle is brought upon the scene it lights up like the Wrigley campaign. Authors? Messrs. Carl Schoner and Benjamin F. Glaser.

MME. MELBA IS GODMOTHER FOR CHICAGO BABY

With Mme. Nellie Melba as godmother, Robert Alexander Anderson Jr., aged 1 month, was baptized in St. Christopher's church by the Rev. Gardner MacWhorter yesterday afternoon.

Mme. Melba was not present, but she cabled from London her best wishes to the young man and promised, through her proxy, Mrs. Anderson's mother, who came from Honolulu for the event, that as his godmother she would see that he was "brought up to lead a Godly and a Christian life."

Paul Stuart Winslow and Franc E. Gardner became Robert's godfathers, Mr. Winslow being his uncle through marriage with Mr. Anderson's sister. The two marriages came about the same time. Mrs. Anderson's sister, Paul Winslow and "Alex." Anderson being members of the same aero squadron in France.

LEAD ARSENATE IN CAKE BY ERROR POISONS EIGHT

Wichita, Kas., May 22.—[Special.]—Eight persons of Dexter, Kas., are fighting death by arsenic poisoning, caused by eating a cake, physicians announced tonight. The cake, though a mistake, was made with arsenate of lead instead of sugar. It was eaten yesterday at a family reunion picnic.

The victims are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson and two children, Winifred and James; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Shedd, Lester Jackson, and Dean Thompson.

Fred Jackson, it was said, purchased groceries in Burden Thursday for the picnic, his wife telling him to get a quantity of arsenate of lead and sugar. He placed the arsenate, done up in a paper sack, with the basket of groceries. Mrs. Jackson, confusing the packages, made the cake.

Holdups 'Borrow' His Car; Phone Where to Find It

Two holdup men stopped J. E. Bloom, 7715 South Halsted street, "We just want to borrow your car for a couple of hours," one said. They took his telephone number. In two hours he received a call and was told where the car could be found.

A GARTER SNAKE TOURS FIELD OF SILK STOCKINGS

But Modern Eves on Street Car Aren't Friendly.

An ophidian reptile, cruising down the aisle of an Elston avenue street car yesterday, made the discovery that your modern woman has certain scruples which Eve did not possess.

Kidnaped from his native habitat in the Cook county forest preserve, he entered the car under the auspices of two small boys. The conveyance was crowded with males and females who were apparently convinced that in the spring a young man's fancy, like the worm, should turn.

"We got you aboard without paying any car fare," said one of the boys to the snake. "Now you gotta shift for yourself."

Mr. Snake a-Touring Goes.

Therewith the resident of the forest preserve was deposited in the aisle. A No. 10 shoe, rubbing coquettishly against a No. 3, halted it and necessitated a tack.

It was at this point that a comely brunette, whose dexter cheek was resting upon the shoulder of her escort, was informed by the latter that she was "some swell," and he was "all for her." The statement caused her modestly to drop her eyes and—You guessed it. They fell on our cruising reptile. The next instant her arms were around the escort's neck.

"Nix! Don't hug me here!" he admonished in some embarrassment.

"It's all right! Help!" shrieked the modern Eve.

A Garter—and Silk Stockings.

Her statement rendered in a distinct mezzo soprano, drew the attention of the rest of the passengers to the snake. At that particular instant he had jibed and was describing a course due east toward a pair of gray silk stockings as they dangled from a remarked parenthetically that he was a garter snake.

"O!" cried the owner of the hosiery. Her remark was terse but eloquent. As she kicked, frantic shoe toward the reptile, causing him to alter his direction to a sharp southwest, the stalwarts of the car took action. Three young men pounced upon him, but were thwarted by a conductor, who misunderstood the tumult and thought there was a fight.

"Here, you guys can't get away with that on my car," he growled, laying a rude paw upon the nearest neck. "Cut that out!"

Exit the Reptile.

Meanwhile the snake, darting past a dozen hysterical women, had reached the front of the car. There he was seized by a resolute male and conveyed to an open window. As he dropped, squirming, upon the pavement, two small boys were observed rushing for the rear platform.

"Ain't he a bird?" chuckled one.

Six automobiles were destroyed and twenty-five others damaged yesterday when fire gutted the De Luxe garage at 3721 Broadway.

John Melichar, proprietor of the garage, and J. C. Wilson, 635 Waveland avenue, an insurance agent, was cleaning his automobile with kerosene, when a spark from a loose electric wire caused the oil to burst into flames.

Among the cars destroyed was that of Edward Perkins, prominent engineer, who died suddenly in his room at the University club Saturday. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

POLITICIAN OF SPRINGFIELD A SUICIDE HERE?

A man believed to have been D. C. Kearns, former alderman of Springfield, Ill., committed suicide in his room at the Gault hotel yesterday by drinking carbolic acid.

Kearns was a power in Springfield when it was "wet." He conducted a saloon. When the city went dry he managed a pool hall for Johnny Connors, fight promoter and owner of a public house theater.

Springfield dry, and with a commission form of government, was not the way to Kearns. He left for Chicago last Tuesday.

He registered at the hotel on May 19 as Fred Davis. He had little to say to the other guests or to the hotel attendants.

FARM AND GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

SUDAN GRASS TESTS.

Sudan grass should not be sown too early. Central west farmers grow this crop profitably as far north as the middle of Wisconsin when the seedling is delayed until ten days or two weeks after corn planting time. Up in Wisconsin, where farmers grow Sudan grass as a supplementary hay crop, they get the largest yields of hay by planting the seed between May 20 and June 10.

Sudan grass is a comparatively new crop in the middle west, and, while sensitive to low temperatures, it thrives almost as well in this region as in the southern states, where it is of greatest importance, producing two or three good cuttings of hay each season. Farmers in sections where the warm season is short often plant the seed too early.

In a report on tests at the Wisconsin station George B. Mortimer said yesterday that early seedings, beginning with the latter part of April, has never yielded as high as those made during late May and early June.

The tests showed early seedlings allowed the weeds to get the start of the Sudan grass, materially reducing the yield or quality of the hay. With later seeding the early weeds may be destroyed by harrowing the field two or three times before planting. Planting at the proper time, Sudan grass makes an ideal smother crop to eradicate weeds. It is even possible to eradicate quack grass, one of the farmer's worst pests, by plowing the ground in the fall, keeping it harrowed until the middle of June, and then sowing Sudan grass.

Since the Sudan grass seed in the market does not all grow—the germination percentage running anywhere from 80 to 85—crop specialists advise liberal seeding. Broadcast or drill about twenty-five pounds to the acre. Avoid deep planting and the field will be green within ten days. It is reasonable to expect a yield of three tons to the acre.

POLICE HUNTING MORE VICTIMS OF BANKER'S WIFE

Search for more victims of robberies believed to have been executed by Mrs. Etta Hell, wife of a millionaire banker and broker and "burglar-king," was continued yesterday. The Town Hall police believe the woman's loot will total more than $40,000.

Four of her victims, who have identified part of their property, have signed complaints against Mrs. Hell, according to Detective Sergeant George Gudmors. Mrs. Hell, according to relatives, has been taken to a north shore sanitarium. Physicians say she is on the verge of a mental breakdown.

Mr. Hell reiterated his offer to reimburse in cash all those who have suffered through his wife's operations.

Zion City Will Fine Women in 1921 Dress

Openwork stockings, peek-a-boos, waisties, short skirts, and bare arms will be punished by fines ranging from $10 to $200, according to a new ruling in Zion City. The police will start a "moral conduct" campaign today and will distribute literature calling attention to the "rules of conduct" for the city. No clothing may be hung on the lines on Sunday, and no public meetings or gatherings of any kind will be tolerated. Under the "blue laws" automobiling is tolerated.

PANIC IN HOTEL AS MAN KILLS WIFE AND SELF

Booze Is Blamed for Dual Tragedy in Loop.

Joe Gallagher was 42 years, 588. Booze was his besetting sin. But he loved his 20 year old wife, Emma, who had left him. He came to Chicago yesterday from Jackson, Mich., to ask her to go back. She wouldn't go, so he took her with him to the undiscovered country. Their bodies are in the morgue at St. Luke's hospital.

The tragedy occurred in the Victoria hotel at Clark and Van Buren streets yesterday morning. Gallagher fired a bullet into his wife's brain. Then, amid a panic among the guests, he turned the revolver on himself.

Married Less than a Year.

The Gallaghers were married in June, 1920. He was a contractor in Jackson, reputed well to do, but known as a hard drinker. She was the daughter of William Hines, a farmer near Jackson.

Gallagher drank hard and his business declined. Finally he lost it all and had to take a job as railroad fireman. He failed to bring home his pay check, drank harder than ever, and they moved from poor quarters to poorer. Finally the girl wife fled to the home of Mrs. W. J. Klinkhamer, wife of a railroad engineer in Jackson.

Three weeks ago she came here to Mrs. George Stowe, wife of the owner of the Victoria hotel, who is her godmother. Mrs. Stowe gave her a place as maid in the hotel.

Story of the Shooting.

Yesterday morning came Gallagher half-dressed with drink. He was directed to his wife's room on the sixth floor. She went into the corridor to talk with him. According to Roy Clark, Negro porter, the couple walked down the corridor quarreling.

Suddenly Mrs. Gallagher walked away from her husband. He drew a revolver and followed. She fell on her knees before him.

"O, please don't shoot me!" she cried. "Please don't shoot!" But Gallagher stood directly over her, then fired. Gallagher turned and fired wildly at the porter and a colored maid. Then he sent a bullet through the wall into a room in which A. Loren of South Bend, Ind., was sleeping. Quarta ran wildly out of their rooms into the corridor. Finally Gallagher leaped calmly against the wall and fired into his own head.

Note Blames Woman.

In Gallagher's pocket the police found an incoherent note, in which he blamed Mrs. Klinkhamer for his act, but didn't state any reason for blaming her. The note also directed the disposition of $1,600 life insurance. Mrs. Gallagher, when she came here, said she left her husband because of his "filthy habits."

"He wouldn't support me," she said, "and he drank, chewed tobacco, and wouldn't dress neatly, no matter how I begged him."

William Hines left Jackson last night for Chicago to take back his daughter's body.

GIRL HELD UP IN PARK WILL MARRY ESCORT

Miss Beatrice Bosch, 22, who was robbed in Washington park by three men, one of whom shot and wounded South Park Policeman Charles W. Leonard, will marry her escort, Morris S. Pantl, of 5220 South Michigan avenue. This was announced yesterday.

Miss Bosch and Pantl were driving through the park in an automobile last month when three men stopped them. Policeman Leonard rushed up, saw drawn revolver. One of the men fired and hit the policeman in the left lung.

200 Buildings in Maxwell District Found Unsafe

Quarrels with Husband; Tries to End Life by Gas

Mrs. Josephine Tosowicz, 21 years old, of 2532 West Chicago avenue, quarreled with her husband yesterday. He went out on the porch to smoke. He smelled gas and, running into the house, discovered his wife unconscious. The police revived Mrs. Tosowicz.

I AM almost on the point of calling this a great picture. Mustn't, though, for it lacks something that makes a picture great. "The touch" is missing. Just the same, it's a mighty good picture, a mighty human picture, and there is some acting in it that makes you catch your breath. You haven't seen much of Sam De Grasse and when you have noticed him maybe he hasn't impressed you especially. But wait till you see him in "Courage." Just wait!

Mr. De Grasse is cast as an inventor who is sent to prison for another man's crime. For eighteen years he is incarcerated in "The Tomb," not even allowed to see the wife he adores. Miss Childers as the wife is one of the loveliest pictures brought to our notice for a good long time. She doesn't act, she is—a beautiful and charming lady. And she has never had a role that suits her better than that of the loyal waiting woman, who fills her solitude with work and builds steadily a place and name for her husband when he shall come back to her as she knows he will.

Alec B. Francis is the friend who sticks. Rather a surprise, Mr. Francis, this trip. You always knew he could act, BUT did you know that he could shake a wicked leg in a Highland fling? And, better, can you imagine the dignified gentleman in the midst of a dance losing his kilt? Yes, he does! Yes, he does!

Perhaps "Courage" is a trifle too long. You don't mind this, though, for it has a story that interests you—and the players see to it that you are not bored. It is well put on and photographed and has several tense and dramatic episodes.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

You're Rather Young.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 16 and met a fellow at a dance. Two nights after he phoned and asked me to go out with him. What would you advise me to do?" EDNA.

You would better let mother meet the man in question and abide by her judgment. You are pretty young to go out alone with young men. They should be well known to your family and approved of by them before you consider accepting their invitations.

May Need Encouragement.
"Dear Miss Blake: About a year and a half ago I went steady with a fellow and then suddenly we drifted apart. Recently I have met him at a few affairs and he seems to be quite attentive to me. He always promises to call on me, but never does. Can you tell me what to do to find out if he really cares for me and wishes to renew our friendship?" LORENE.

Maybe he is waiting for you to set a definite time. He may be thinking you care no longer. Better drop him a word of encouragement.

Quite a Blunder.
We had been visiting a church in the neighborhood and the members urgently requested us to join their choir. After being asked several times, we promised to appear the following Friday evening—which was practice night.

It was rather cold that night and upon entering the church we soon noticed that there was no heat. We finally struggled through the evening, and as we were leaving the church a man, rather shabbily dressed, entered.

"Well, the janitor has come, now that we are ready to leave," I remarked to the woman next to me. All she did was glare at me, and I found out later from one of the girls that it was her husband. G. P.

ance for whatever assistance you may give me. J. C.

I am happy J. C. to pass along your petition with warm wishes for its success.

ROADS MUST CUT DOWN EXPENSES, COMMERCE VIEW

National Chamber Sees but One Outcome.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—Railroads must make sharp reductions in their operating expenses if their credit and financial stability are to be re-established, a committee of the chamber of commerce of the United States, which has made a survey of the transportation question, declared tonight in a statement.

Necessity of practicing strict economy was urged, the committee pointing out that "readjustment of salaries and wages is in progress in all other industries, and it is to be assumed that railroad wages will in the future, as they have in the past, bear an equitable relationship to wages paid in other activities."

The committee was of the opinion that the grouping or consolidation of railroads must ultimately be accomplished. It also declared that federal incorporation of railroads was highly desirable.

No New Legislation Needed Now.

No additional legislation on the railroad question was, however, needed at this time, the statement said, as it was advisable to have further experience with the transportation act before attempting to modify it.

The committee stated it had come to the conclusion that "even with increased traffic that will come with the gradual return of business prosperity railroad transportation cannot be restored to a profitable basis until the present high operating expenses are cut down."

"It is recognized by the railroads," the committee report continues, "that the rates and fares cannot be increased." Stressing the need for more economic methods of operation, the committee said the first step should be greater cooperation among the carriers—especially in terminal organization and management.

Readjust Wages.

"Whatever economies may be effected by changes in operating methods," it was stated, "there inevitably must be a reduction in the percentage which salaries and wages comprise of the total operating revenue. The payroll of the railroads in 1917 amounted to $1,700,000,000, or about 45 per cent of the operating revenue. In 1920 the payroll had risen to $2,750,000,000, having risen to $3,750,000,000, which is about 60 per cent of operating revenue."

"The committee assumes that every effort will be made by the carriers to maintain equitable scales of wages for different classes of employment. While wages must be reduced, no class of labor should bear an inequitable share of the burden. All should render a full eight hours' service for eight hours' pay."

Senate Hearing Goes On.

The third week of the investigation by the senate interstate commerce committee into the railroad situation will begin tomorrow with representatives of the railroads still explaining why they are not making any money. The entire week probably will be given over to railroad testimony.

At the rate the hearing has been progressing, it is regarded as probable that it will run well into June. The main aspects of the railroad viewpoint have been submitted by Julius Kruttschnitt of the Southern Pacific, and Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio, and much of the remainder of the testimony by the carriers will be largely statistical details supporting the contentions already developed.

ALABAMA COAL MINERS APPEAL TO WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., May 22.—Secretary Davis has been urged by the American Civil Liberties union to investigate conditions in the Alabama coal fields.

A letter from the union to the secretary charges that the recent settlement of the strike was a "gross injustice to the miners and perpetuates conditions which may break out any time into open industrial conflict." It also is charged that during the strike civil rights were violated by the governor's orders.

The appeal to Secretary Davis to intervene, officers of the union said, was made on the ground that "the state authorities in Alabama have done nothing to do nothing to improve conditions."

GERMANY'S PLAN
PUZZLES CHIEFS
OF MONEY WORLD

The New York Times.

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—Last week's events of outstanding significance from the financial viewpoint were the setting in motion of the machinery for Germany's reparations and the announcement of the railway labor board's policy on wages. The significant incidents in the markets themselves were the rise in exchange on western Europe to practically the highest rate since 1918 and the gain by the New York federal reserve bank and the system as a whole, of much the strongest reserve position since the middle of 1918.

It was noteworthy that neither the stock market nor the open money market showed what might seem to be the logical response to these occurrences, whereas, in the longer economic future, whereas the price of stocks and the rate for money are evidently still governed by conditions of the moment, the result of influences extending to the past.

Speculation on Germany's Plans.

Wide field for conjecture is opened through the preliminary cable dispatches regarding Germany's payments. The situation that Berlin will make a substantial part of its cash remittances in the form of exchange drafts on the London market, including even England and Belgium, causes curiosity; not because such mode of payment is unusual, but because it does not on the face of things appear how Germany could have accumulated such foreign credits.

Three Results Predicted.

It is none the less probable that at least the greater part of the 1,000,000,000 marks cash payment on or before June 1 will be effected through delivery of the gold now held by the German Reichsbank. Last week's intimation from Paris that the physical transfer of such gold from one European market to another is not contemplated and the reported use of American banking houses as intermediaries, indicates at least a contingent purpose of shipping the gold direct from Germany to the United States to establish credit balances on which the allied governments can draw.

It should happen.

It should happen that it would have these effects: further rapid increase in the reserve of our federal banking system, further recovery of European exchange from its long depression and substantial enhancing of the credit and economic power of France and the other central countries.

McCORMICK WILL TALK TO BANKERS ON FOREIGN TRADE

The thirty-first annual convention of the Illinois Bankers' association will be held at June 9 and 10. It was announced yesterday. There will be four sessions. Among the speakers will be Senator William McCormick, who will talk on "Foreign Policy, Foreign Trade, and American Prosperity"; John S. Drum, president of the American Bankers' association; and "Hilltop with Relation to World Conditions and World Trade"; Mr. Evelyn Aldrich, H. M. Morgan, J. I. Howard, and George Woodruff.

There will also be a discussion of "Making Safe Deposit Business Safe," by E. J. Phelps, manager of the Northern Trust Safe Deposit company. Inquiries must bear the signature and address of writer in order to receive attention. Answers thought to be of public interest will be published. If an answer is not of general interest it will be mailed privately to the inquirer. Address letters to Investors' Guide.

Answers to inquiries are based upon information which THE TRIBUNE believes reliable, fair, and unprejudiced, but beyond the exercise of care in securing such information THE TRIBUNE assumes no responsibility.

Meridian Petroleum.

A. B. Lyons, Inc.—The Meridian Petroleum corporation was formed recently by combining the Lake Park Refining company, the Dunn Petroleum corporation, and the Davenport Petroleum corporation. It has issued $2,500,000 of metal bonds secured by first mortgage. The proceeds will be used in retiring bonds of the constituent companies and providing more working capital. Earnings of the combined properties in 1920 covered interest on the new issue more than six times, while the appraised value of the mortgaged properties is about ten times the loan. The bonds are sold at a premium of 10% and are for a person not needing the highest grade of security.

Working Pump and Machinery.

M. P.—The Worthington Pump and Machinery company earned 7% per cent on its $12,922,120 of common stock last year. This compares with 17 per cent in 1919 and 26 1/3 per cent in 1917. It is reported that the dividend on common stock was not fully earned in January and February of this year but that earnings and cash position have improved since.

Gulf States Steel.

W. R. S.—The Gulf States Steel company is not to let violent fluctuations of earnings. It earned 5% per cent on its $12,110 of common stock last year, compared with 11 1/2 per cent in 1918, and nearly 23 per cent in 1917. In the first quarter of this year there was a small deficit. There is $2,000,000 of first preferred stock and $4,180,000 of second preferred. Funded and floating debts together amount to a little more than $1,000,000.

Brief Announcements.

F. J. Q.—The National Leather company suffered a heavy loss in 1920, but all other leather companies. No later report issued. The leather business has improved in the last few months, and no doubt this company shares the improvement.

R. M. B.—The financial statements furnished by the Southern Guaranty Loan company are too condensed to show much. The company has reputable back-

RAILROADS' FATE
HANGS ON EXENT
OF WAGES SLASH

BY O. A. MATHER.

How will the railroad of the country fare for the last half of 1921? This question is vitally bound up with the railroad labor board's decision on the extent wages may be reduced.

This decision will not take effect until July 1, and until it is promulgated the outlook is confused. Railroad managers generally had hoped the decision would be made in time to take effect June 1. They had hoped the decision would eliminate the 22 1/2 per cent increases granted last year, thus enabling the roads to save the $600,000,000 to $700,000,000 additional pay which that award cost.

Railroad executives point to the fact that the savings of $400,000,000 as the result of abolishing the amount of payments and $600,000,000 to $700,000,000 if the wage award of last year is wiped out were based on last year's operations. Since then 400,000 employees have been laid off and there necessarily has been a large shrinkage in pay roll.

Heavy Decline in Traffic.

But at the same time there has been a heavy decline in the volume of traffic, the total of late freight cars at one time exceeding 500,000, which was a record, while operating expenses in every department have been pared to the bone. With the volume of traffic down so low and business generally so far below normal, railroad heads are reluctant to estimate how much of a cut in railroad wages would be necessary to show a 6 per cent return on the aggregate value of railroad property. There have been material reductions in prices for certain materials and supplies, but the amount of maintenance of way and structures and maintenance of equipment expenditures this year has been heavier than normal.

However, railroad managers have set forth certain results that must be shown to certain bankers and investors. In order to allow a 6 per cent return on property, basing their estimates on 1920 figures, $180,000,000 behind in three months.

The railroads are tentatively believing this $900,000,000 can be saved under present conditions when operating forces have been cut to the limit of safety. Their supply of labor is elastic and any increase in traffic would result in hiring a proportionately great number of workers. It also is considered improbable that anything like $200,000,000 will be saved when the new agreements are made between the roads and the men. Thus the roads may have to make up considerably more than the $120,000,000 heretofore shown to earn 6 per cent.

If the labor board should cut only half of last year's wage increase from the pay roll the savings from this source would be $250,000,000, while if only half of the $200,000,000 saving from the abrogation of national agreements was effected the total saving would be $500,000,000. This would leave the roads to find additional revenue of $400,000,000 to earn 6 per cent.

In making the foregoing estimates road managers do so hesitantly and admit that their figures may prove wide of the mark. Because of this and various other uncertainties in the situation the confusion as to the future is not giving way to any marked degree.

WEATHER NEWS LEADING FACTOR IN WHEAT MART

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Removing grain market competition through legislative enactments appears to be the main object for which the farm organizations are working, according to statements issued by their leaders. Whether it can be accomplished successfully is a question. Without competition there would be no life to trade in grain or in other commodities.

Leaders in the grain trade are asking why the farmers' leaders are competing, why they avoid putting their cooperative schemes into force in the open market. If the schemes are sound and economically better than existing methods, they would drive competitors out of business and force a change to the new methods.

The present system of handling grain is not entirely confined to the United States and Canada, but is in force wherever grain is raised in volume. To disrupt it would throw all the world's markets into chaos.

Preparing Wheat Pool.

Reports from various sections indicate the United States Grain Growers, Inc. are going ahead with their pooling plans. From Fargo, N. D., comes a report that $99,000 of wheat is being raised in Montana, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon has been pooled in the farmers' organization.

The Tinscher and the Lanz bills, if enacted into law, will restrict grain trading somewhat, while the Lanz bill, No. 24, which is to come up this week at Springfield, would practically kill future trading in Illinois, so that only cash grain dealings would be permitted in the state. This would be a serious blow to the grain trade and be of no benefit to the farmer, while helping those who are farming the farmer.

The grain trade had a good illustration of the effects of speculative markets and of the workings of the futures market last week. The effect of short selling was clearly demonstrated by the advance. Comparatively few people outside of the grain trade comprehend the real benefits of short selling and its effect on the market. It creates both a seller and a buyer and goes further toward making a big market and keeping it alive than any other system.

May Wheat Up 49c.

May wheat advanced from 11.42 to 11.91 last week, showing an advance of 49c. This was the lowest point of the season and was within 5c of the highest point so far. July wheat advanced 2c from the recent low and was within 1c of the season's high.

Expectations are that stocks of wheat, corn and oats here will show a decrease for the week. The future course of wheat values is largely dependent upon the weather and the extent of the harvest. Continued hot and dry weather in the southwest will reduce yields of wheat and oats. As the short interest has been down, general rains and a move for profits by leading holders might cause a sharp decline. The market acted strained at the last, as Chicago May wheat is the highest of the country. But it is not expected any quantity of cash wheat will be brought here for delivery on May sales. No one has any definite idea who the shorts in May wheat are, while the longs are seaboard exporters who want the cash grain.

Wheat Advance Remarkable.

The advance in wheat prices is most remarkable when it is considered that conditions from a speculative standpoint were largely against large buying. More to obtain advance legislative action at Washington and Springfield have kept speculative investors out of the market of late and have resulted in declining prices. The effect of the winter wheat crop in the southwest, with greatly reduced estimates and small losses in parts of the central west, combined with light stocks everywhere, lack of pressure of short interest, and the fact that buyers are buying on a long-term basis, all have helped to bring about the advance. Cash premiums have practically disappeared as the result of the advance in May wheat. Farmers are more disposed to sell old wheat, even where the crop shows promise, than to hold it. Offerings are being well absorbed. Seaboard exporters want most of the May and July wheat, and have been taking profits on their May at 50c to 55c over the July and replacing with July. The weather outlook among wheat traders is that there will be no real low prices for wheat the world over until Russia reenters the export trade, while at present it is an importer. May wheat closed Saturday at 11.91, 1.35c, up 2c for the week; July, 11.20, 1.35c, up 2c. Prices for the week follow:
